2 Arabs, Jews In Two-Hour Street Battle

JERUSALEM, Dec. 2 (AP)—Arab and Jewish mobs roamed through Jerusalem's streets in attack and counterattack today, wrecking shops, smashing windows, shooting and hurling stones in violence set off by the Palestine partition decision.

Thousands of Arabs, venting their anger at the United Nations action, opened the demonstrations. Jews, in trucks and afoot, swiftly struck back. It took police and troops almost two hours to restore a semblance of order.

Reports, confirmed and unconfirmed, of the day's casualties all over the Holy Land, totaled three Jews dead and 22 Jews and six Arabs injured. Property damage was heavy.

With most of a three-day Arab protest strike left to go, police imposed a dusk to dawn curfew on the Arab quarters of Jerusalem, including most of the walled city.

ARABS REGROUP

Armored cars and Bren gun carriers were called by the British to disperse the rioters. The British were assisted by thousands of khaki clad young Jews—apparent-age done to Jewish shops by the Arab rioters.

Meanwhile bands of Jews continued to smash windows and hurl stones, but there was no firing.

A line of Hagana members, with joined hands, prevented the Jewish demonstrators from advancing further into the Arab area. After about 20 minutes the Jews began to drift back toward Zion sq.

"FILTHY AMERICANS"

At 1:10 p. m. the official Palestine information bureau issued a statement saying the "situation is under control."

A bureau spokesman said police were holding the Arabs within the old city and that the Jewish agency had recalled Hagana forces.

Police estimated that as many as 5000 Arabs had stormed out of the old city of Jerusalem and headed for the Jewish quarter.

One group of Arabs, crying out "filthy Americans," hurled stones at the automobile in which Americans were riding, but failed to connect with their target.

Gunfire broke out near the U. S. consulate in Mamillah rd. Disturbances were reported simultaneously in other parts of Palestine. The stoning of Jewish buses continued in Tel Aviv, and a bombing occurred in a suburb of that all-Jewish city—without casualties.

On the border between Tel Aviv and Jaffa, police broke up an Arab road block where a mob was forming.

In Amman, Transjordan, two American news correspondents—Phil Potter of the Baltimore Sun and Miss Charlotte Ebener of the Women's National News, were held in protective custody last night in the Arab town of Zerga after being chased by an Arab mob.

Arab Demonstrations Paralyze Damascus

BAGHDAD, Dec. 2 (AP)—Traffic in the main streets of Damascus was brought to a standstill today and business was virtually paralyzed as Arab demonstrators continued for the second day to display their opposition to the impending partition of Palestine.

Demonstrators waved banners bearing slogans derogatory to the United Nations and the member countries which voted in favor of the partition plan.

Heavy guards were stationed around all foreign legations. Similar demonstrations were reported in other Arab cities.

Britain Due to Lower Palestine Bars to Jews

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—A government source said today it is "safe to assume" Britain will authorize at least a 50 per cent increase in the rate of legal Jewish immigration into Palestine between now and her scheduled Aug. 1 evacuation deadline.

The purpose of the increase would be to move the 16,000 Jews now in detention camps in Cyprus. Britain now admits 1500 Jews to Palestine each month, half from Cyprus camps and the rest from Displaced Persons camps in Europe.

Schuman Smashes 10-Hour French Red 'Silent Filibuster'

PARIS, Dec. 2 (AP)—A 10-hour "silent filibuster" by Communist deputies was broken early today and the National Assembly was called back into session to enact a stringent anti-strike law requested by Premier Schuman to fight work stoppages paralyzing the

U. S. Immigration Cut Staggers Boston Port

Another major blow was struck at the future of the Port of Boston today with the disclosure that the U. S. Immigration Service in Washington had ordered the closing of the East Boston detention station in the near future.

U. S. Airmen Trace Clue to Missing Plane

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 2 (AP)—U. S. Air Force search planes hunted desperately today for a C-47 transport, missing since Friday with 20 persons, after receiving radio signals indicating it was down near Kaiserslautern, in French-occupied Germany.

Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden said a radio signal, believed to be from the missing ship, was picked up early this morning. It said:

"Am in rough area with trees. Badly need help. Possible me to build fire."

Radio fixes on this and other signals showed they came from the Kaiserslautern area, virtually on the direct line of the transport's route via Lyon, France, from Pisa, Italy, to Frankfurt. The fixes indicated the plane was within 20 miles of Kaiserslautern, probably to the south.

Bail of 2 Suspects In Big Stickup Cut

Cases of Joseph Bellino, 38, Newark, N. J., and Anthony Pino, 40, Kennebuc st., Mattapan, held in $50,000 double surety each on charges of armed robbery of $108,000 from the B. F. Sturtevant plant in Hyde Park, were continued for one week today at the request of Detective Lt. James V. Crowley.

The continuance was granted by Judge Daniel W. Casey in West Roxbury court over the objections of Atty. Herbert F. Callahan, counsel for Pino, and Atty. Paul T. Smith, counsel for Bellino, who charged the rights of their clients were being jeopardized. Judge Casey honored pleas for lowering bail and set the two defendants in $10,000 double surety each.

The shutdown order, reported due to a sharp falling off in the number of incoming passengers arriving for processing here, drew the immediate fire of Frank Davis, head of the maritime division of the Chamber of Commerce, who termed it a "sniping attack at the Port of Boston."

Henry Nichols, director of the Immigration Service in Boston, said no date had been set for the closing of the detention station but admitted that employees here had been given their choice of transfer to other ports.

Under the order the Immigration and naturalization offices in Tremont st. would remain open with sufficient personnel to handle the office routine and processing of airline passengers.

LINERS SCORN HUB

Davis, learning today of the order, immediately wrote letters of protest to U. S. Sens. Saltonstall and Lodge and Gov. Bradford. He pointed out that the port already had been hard hit by the diversion to New York of passenger liners, running again on full schedule, formerly sailing from Boston.

Waterfront interests were staggered by the report and many said closing of the station would end all hope of bringing back the large passenger liners which are now being diverted to New York or Philadelphia instead of stopping at Boston as was the custom in prewar days.

In those prewar years, Boston did the second largest volume of business in the nation in handling incoming passenger liners with New York holding the top spot.

BUSINESS OFF

But the sharp falling off in business after the war, although the major lines are once again operating on full schedule, has necessitated the move, according to Nichols.

He said personnel here had been given an opportunity to transfer to other ports, such as New York, Philadelphia and even as far as the west coast.

With the closing of the detention station, he added, aliens would be taken to Philadelphia to await disposition of their cases, or lodged in Charles st. jail.

One stoppage was ended this morning when police cleared sit-down strikers from six power plants in the Paris area, permitting subways to resume operation after service had been suspended for several hours. More than 2,000,000 other workers remained idle, however, stalling every major industry.

The Communists' "silent filibuster" against Schuman's anti-strike bill, which is aimed at breaking the Communist grip on the French labor movement, ended when Republican guards ejected Communist Deputy Raoul Calas from the assembly chamber.

VOTE OF CENSURE

Fifty other Communist deputies who had occupied the otherwise empty chamber with Calas followed him out. Calas made no effort to resist the guards and there was no disorder.

Calas refused to leave the speaker's rostrum yesterday afternoon after a vote of censure against him for urging army reservists to refuse to comply with government orders calling them to the colors. The vote also directed his temporary expulsion from the Assembly.

The tumult in the chamber over the incident became so great that Assembly President Edouard Herriot was forced to suspend the session. Calas stayed on the rostrum and other Communist deputies occupied the chamber through the night. They said they wanted to be sure that Herriot would not reconvene the Assembly without their knowledge.

Calas denied that he was "inciting the army to revolt," but "simply called on soldiers not to fire on the people." The government has called up 300,000 reservists in the last two weeks.

The Schuman anti-strike bill, which the Communists are now fighting so bitterly, would give the government power for three months to fine and jail strike agitators, and to apply stiff penalties for sabotage.

WIDESPREAD SABOTAGE

One deputy supporting Schuman declared: "The government and the majority of the Assembly, as well as the majority of the French people, are determined to fight international Communism in France to the finish."

Meanwhile, there were strong back-to-work movements in some unions, including the postal employees and railwaymen, but the coal mines remained virtually 100 per cent closed.

Sabotage was widely reported, especially on rail lines. At Arras, six men armed with pistols forced non-strikers to extinguish fires in five locomotives.

After the main body of the Arab rioters had been dispersed, leaving in their wake a trail of burned shops and overturned automobiles, they were reported regrouping behind walls of the old Holy City in preparation for a new foray.

The Jewish counterattack meanwhile appeared to be developing. Four trucks loaded with young Jews armed with clubs came to Zion sq. shortly after noon, followed by approximately 2000 Jews on foot.

BREAK THROUGH BARRIERS

The Jews stormed through police barriers on Princess Mary's way and began wrecking Arab shops, motion picture theaters and cafes.

The barrier, which had been erected to halt the Arab mob, was broken through only after a fierce hand-to-hand struggle with police.

Hagana leaders finally halted the Jewish advance a short distance beyond the barrier by appealing for a halt while they conferred with police. A committee of 10 Jews then was appointed to accompany police through Julian's Way to assess the extent of dam-

FRANK OLIVER

Rebuked Returning Pocketbook

What Price Honesty? He Wants to Know

Honesty may be the best policy, but it is very trying at times. Like the case of the dowager, her chauffeur and Francis Oliver of Alexander st., Dorchester.

Oliver, a machinist with fair-to-middling grease stains on his hands, was standing near the front entrance of the South Station. As he was admiring a sleek limousine of the $5000 class at the curb, the dowager got in and imperiously bade her lackey to drive on.

But as the door closed behind her, a pocketbook fell to the street. Oliver raced over, picked it up and ran after the car, thumping the trunk with one fist to draw the dowager's attention.

The car was halted. The great lady opened the door. Oliver held out the purse and said:

"You'll want this." "Gracious!" she said, "there is $500 in it. I cashed some traveler's checks." "Give it to her," ordered the chauffeur.

Oliver handed it over. The dowager took it with thumb and forefinger.

"Did you have to get your dirty fingerprints all over it?" she asked.

The limousine purred away, leaving Oliver to ponder aloud, with rich overtones, whether the dowager would ever really know his opinion of her.

BLACK DIAMOND ADDS TO DEATH TOLL

ROME, Dec. 2 (AP)—Nadia Vyegin-Orloff, Russian princess who once owned the legendary Orloff black diamond, leaped to death Sunday.

The ill-fated gem, stolen from an Indian shrine near Pondicherry early in the last century, was reputed to have brought violent death to all who ever owned it. The stone originally weighed 195 carats, the State charges she killed her father with pistol and shotgun, then helped her brother stuff the body in a barnyard sheep pen. The 13-man jury and the judge, with counsel for the government and defense, also viewed the isolated farm where Roberts is alleged to have been killed by his daughter when he returned from a long absence at sea.

Barbara and William, who are being prosecuted for second degree murder, rode in a sedan with Sheriff Crocker, the white-faced girl in the front seat, her brother in the rear.

Deputy sheriffs accompanied the jurors in a bus. Justice William A. Grimes drove directly to the farm house from his home in Dover.

Robert's body was discovered nine months after he met his death on a trip home for Christmas.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Earlier, the young couple had pleaded not guilty while two older brothers, government witnesses and also merchant mariners, had sat in the courtroom without display of emotion.

The latter uncovered the crime when they came home last summer and began to ask questions about the continued absence of their father and his failure to write.

Barbara, a former woolen mill worker, sat entranced as the 13-man jury and an alternate were chosen. She wore the same black dress she had when arrested several months ago, but she was far thinner than the plump youngster who led arresting officers to the sheep pen last summer.

After the jury had been picked, County Solicitor William W. Keller said Barbara signed a statement in September that she had shot her father the previous Dec. 21 after an argument over her failure to meet him at the railroad station when he returned from a sea voyage.

BROTHERS TO TESTIFY

The two older brothers, Lt. Com. Charles Sylvester Roberts, 25, and CPO Robert Roberts, are expected to be the first witnesses called after the jury has visited the deserted farmhouse that was the death spot.

In a statement to the jury, Atty. F. A. Normandin warned that the farmhouse and barn have changed greatly since the snowy night of the crime almost a year ago.

At the same time, Prosecutor Keller asked the jury to take special note of "holes in the wall of the farmhouse."

Throughout the trial, the jury will go home nightly. Judge Grimes declared he was placing great trust in them not to listen to the case on the radio or read about it in the newspapers.

Swampscott Mother Shot Accidentally

Mrs. Gertrude Morrow, 29, wife of a Boston business man and daughter-in-law of a concert pianist, remained on the danger list at Salem Hospital today but was reported comfortable after an emergency operation on a wound in her abdomen. The wound was accidentally inflicted while she was handling a shotgun in her father's apartment in Lynde st., Salem.

Mrs. Morrow, mother of two young children, is the former Gertrude Spangler, who married Frank B. Morrow, Jr., member of a socially prominent Lynn family, in 1941. His father was a famous shoe designer. His mother, Mrs. Blanche M. Morrow, won distinction as the conductor of the Lynn Musical Vespers and as a pianist.

The accidental shooting occurred Saturday afternoon but hospital authorities and City Marshal J. C. Harkins, as well as police, declined to furnish details of the incident.

Ash-blond and blue-eyed, young Mrs. Morrow is of Finnish extraction and though she was born here, spent much of her life in Finland and Russia where her father's business took the family. On their return just before the war broke out, she said:

"No one who hasn't lived in Europe can imagine how wonderful a country America is."

Since her marriage, she and her husband, along with Sandra, 6, and Gregory, 3, have been living in Humphrey st., Swampscott.

Wife Shot, Lawrence Man Facing Court

LAWRENCE, Dec. 2—Matthew S. Buckley, 29, a federal tax agent, faced district court today charged with the shooting of his wife, Margaret, 26, who is fighting for life at Lawrence General Hospital, in the aftermath of a family dispute.

The victim was shot in the abdomen while two policemen, called to take Buckley from the house, looked on. They had permitted him to "talk a minute" to his wife.

Doctors said today that Mrs. Buckley's condition was "fair" after removal of the bullet. Her name still is on the danger list, however.

When taken to police headquarters, Buckley said his mind had gone blank.

"I just walked over to kiss her," he said. "That's all I remember until I saw her lying on the floor and the cops were putting handcuffs on me."

At the time of the shooting, the couple's 2-month-old son, Kevin, lay sleeping in an adjoining room. Buckley was charged with assault with intent to kill and assault with a dangerous weapon.

The two police officers, Frederick Kennedy and Jeremiah Donovan, said they had gone to the Buckley home to take him into custody for assaulting his mother-in-law, Mrs. William Murphy, who also lives there.

"He put on his coat and hat and then asked us permission to say good-by to his wife," the officers said. "We told him it was all right as long as it was in our presence. He walked over to her and when directly in front of her fired through the pocket of his overcoat. She fell to the floor, and we quickly grabbed him, snapping the bracelets on him."

CONSULTED LAWYER

Police said the couple had become involved in a family argument at breakfast that morning and had gone to a lawyer to discuss their problems.

Buckley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Buckley of Grant st., Lexington, is employed as a field agent for the alcoholics division of the Internal Revenue Department, police said. His father is active in Democratic circles and at one time served as chairman of the Lexington Democratic Town Committee. He went to Lawrence last night in an attempt to confer with his son.

Police said the bullet came from a gun of a foreign make, equivalent to a .38-caliber. Buckley, who served an enlistment with the Marines prior to World War II, did not disclose how he came into possession of the gun.

4 U.S. Making New Weapons From Two Atomic Materials

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 3 (AP)—David E. Lillenthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, disclosed today the United States now is producing new atomic weapons from both uranium and plutonium. "Both of these products are used for atomic

MAP OF U. S. ATOMIC BOMB SITE IN PACIFIC
Eniwetok Atoll in Marshall Islands Is Selected

Secrecy to Blanket Pacific Atom Tests

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Projected atomic tests behind a curtain of absolute secrecy in the remote Pacific suggested today that American scientists may be preparing new weapons based on the same terrible power as the atom bomb.

A terse announcement from the Atomic Energy Commission disclosed that the armed forces are making tiny Eniwetok Atoll—1500 miles from the nearest large land mass—into a closed-off proving grounds for research on "new fundamental data."

What goes on there, the Commission said, is expected to result in advances in "peaceful as well as in military applications of atomic energy."

Asked whether a reference to "Atomic Weapons" means that this country's arsenal now includes a nuclear fission running mate for the atom bomb, one official replied:

"You can draw your own conclusions."

Unlike the surface underwater atom bomb tests at Bikini atoll in the summer of 1946, which were covered by several hundred reporters and foreign observers, the new experiments will be under "full scrutiny restrictions," last night's announcement said.

The area will be shut off from the world and the Security Council of the United Nations will be notified to this effect, as provided in the UN trusteeship agreement for the former Japanese-occupied islands.

GET NEW HOME

The 145 native inhabitants of the atoll islands of Aomori and Bijiiri will leave for a permanent new home which they will select. Bijiiri was unsuitable for the new experiments, the commission said, because it lacked land surface enough to contain "the instrumentation necessary to the scientific observations which must be made."

Eniwetok itself has only about

2 1/4 square miles of land. One big reason for choosing it, the announcement explained, is its isolation. There are hundreds of miles of open seas "in the direction in which winds might carry radioactive particles." It lies about halfway between Hawaii and the Philippines, and the closest big land area is New Guinea, 1500 miles to the southwest.

After the Bikini tests there were reports of unusual radioactivity, never officially confirmed, as far away as France and the west coast of the United States.

KEEP PLANS SECRET

The Army, Navy and Air Force are installing the necessary housing, protective buildings for the scientists and control posts. Some military installations put up after the Marines killed the Japanese garrison in a six-day fight in February, 1944, will be renovated for use.

Lt. Gen. John E. Hull, Pacific commander of the Army, has overall command of that job.

Sen. Brien McMahon (D.) of Connecticut, a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee and author of the Atomic Energy Act, told reporters:

"The start on construction is the natural, reasonable development of atomic energy in view of world conditions today and the refusal of the Russians to accept a good plan for control."

Met Train Derails Car in Subway

A three-car train, carrying 335 Boston College students, struck and derailed an empty Egleston sq. car as it was making the loop in Park st. station at the morning rush hour today, causing a delay of 17 minutes in service and delaying thousands on their way to work.

No injuries were reported. The three-car train, bound from Lechmere, was operated by Jeremiah P. Sullivan, Union st., Brighton. The Egleston car was driven by Thomas E. Danahue, Sheridan st., Jamaica Plain.

weapons in current production and under design at commission laboratories," Lillenthal said.

He did not explain whether the new weapons are bombs, such as were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, or represent a new military application of atomic power. Such details are classed as "secret."

In a speech prepared for the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Lillenthal said the weapons are being assembled at the isolated Los Alamos, N. M., laboratories where the first bomb was produced.

The atomic energy commission disclosed on Monday a new proving ground for atomic weapons is being created at remote Eniwetok atoll, in the far Pacific.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Lillenthal's speech came on the fifth anniversary of the successful conclusion of experiments demonstrating that the energies within the nucleus of the uranium atom may be released upon a large scale and can be controlled.

This demonstration occurred Dec. 1, 1942, on the athletic field of the University of Chicago under the direction of Enrico Fermi, famed Italian scientist.

The government never has confirmed any reports concerning the nature of the contents of atomic bombs which have been exploded in the past. But it is known they can be made either of uranium 235 or of plutonium, a man-made element produced from uranium.

Lillenthal showed the engineers a small piece of uranium metal.

"Only a few years ago there was not this much uranium metal in the world; today we use it by the ton," he said.

OUTLAY HUGE

He said the nation has spent about $2,500,000,000 in the atomic enterprise.

"If this country really means business then within the next several years this total expenditure will increase to 'approximately $5,000,000,000,'" he added.

Explaining why the government recently has allowed a group of businessmen and engineers access to secret atomic information, Lillenthal said such information must be available to chosen groups if the country is to advance rapidly in developing atomic energy both for peaceful and military uses.

Head of the group which got an inside view of atomic secrets is James W. Parker, president and general manager of the Detroit Edison Co.

Lillenthal said the 11 committee members, working with Parker, will make recommendations for obtaining "broader industrial and engineering participation" in atomic problems.

King Michael Wins Dane Royal Beauty

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 2 (AP)—Dashing young King Michael I of Romania and beautiful Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma, his distant cousin, will announce their engagement probably within a month, a source close to the Danish family said today.

The 24-year-old Danish-French princess, who once worked in a hat shop in New York with her royal mother, and 26-year-old Michael are together now in Switzerland. They arrived Sunday from London after attending the marriage of Princess Elizabeth. The British royal wedding had revived rumors of a romance between Michael and Elizabeth's sister, Princess Margaret Rose.

(King Michael's secretary, advised in Lausanne of the report, said "we have to wait for an announcement from the government." The king and the princess are staying at the Hotel Beau Rivage in Ouchy, a fashionable Lausanne suburb. With them are the king's mother, Queen Helen, and his aunt, the Duchess of Aosta.)

While they were in London Michael and Anne were seen together frequently.

PRINCESS WAR WORKER

The informant said it was expected the engagement would be announced simultaneously by King Michael in Bucharest, King Frederik IX of Denmark and Princess Anne's parents, Prince Rene and Princess Margarethe, in Copenhagen.

The princess, whose full name is Anne Antoinette Francoise Charlotte, was a front line worker for the Red Cross in World War II. Later she went to New York with her mother, and they opened a hat shop. The tall, willowy princess is known as an enthusiastic amateur photographer.

King Michael first ascended the Romanian throne at the age of six, when his father, Carol II abdicated. Later Carol reconsidered and resumed his duties as Romania's monarch. In 1940, when Carol stepped down again, Michael wept bitterly when he found he would be king again. He cried out that he did not want the throne.

Marshall, Molotov To Lunch Friday

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Sec. Marshall, apparently anxious for a private conversation with Russian Foreign Minister Molotov, accepted today an invitation from Molotov for luncheon Friday.

The luncheon will afford the two their first opportunity for direct discussion of the U. S. and Russian problems since the Moscow meeting early this year, when Molotov attended Marshall's conference with Prime Minister Stalin.

There was no official indication of what Marshall wants from the meeting.

Molotov earlier declined an invitation to have lunch with Marshall at the U. S. embassy Monday.

FIREMAN JOHN MURRAY
Hurt in Revere Crash

Revere Engine Crash Hurts 3 Firemen

Three Revere firemen were injured early today when the fire engine on which they were returning from a blaze went out of control at Broadway and Cummings ave., Revere, left the highway and was wrecked against two power poles.

Driving was Fireman John Murray, 34, of Revere Beach pky., and riding with him was Capt. Vincent MacAulay, 50, of Thurlow ave., Revere. On the rear platform was Fireman Richard O'Brien, 54, of Beach st., Revere. All three were hurled to the pavement.

As the apparatus veered across street car tracks, it first crashed an Edison power pole and snapped it off at the base, bringing it crashing to the street and cutting off power for the nearby area. The engine then struck a trolley suspension pole of the Eastern Massachusetts St. Ry. Co., crippling surface car traffic.

Emergency calls brought ambulances to the scene and Capt. MacAulay and Murray were rushed to the Revere General Hospital. An examination disclosed that MacAulay had suffered a severe back injury and shock, while Murray was held for X-rays for possible internal injuries.

O'Brien was found to have suffered a fractured pelvis and after being given first aid at the Revere General was transferred to the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

The shack fire from which the engine was returning was in Newman st., Revere.

80,180 Voters Sign New Pleas On Birth Control

Petitions bearing the certified signatures of 80,180 Massachusetts voters were filed today with Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook for an amendment to the state law, which would permit doctors to give birth control information to married women to protect their lives and health.

The total of signatures, a new record in the State, was attained largely through the efforts of over 4000 men and women volunteers, according to Mrs. Walter E. Campbell, of Cambridge, president of the Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts.

"Massachusetts citizens are evidently aroused by the situation which makes this petition necessary," Mrs. Campbell said.

"The fact that Massachusetts doctors are forbidden to prescribe for married women patients medical advice which has the sanction of the vast majority of the medical profession has come as a shock to a great number of our citizens.

"There is a growing awareness that availability of this professional care, for those who need and wish it, constitutes a human right in a democracy.

DOCTOR CITES DIVORCES

Dr. James C. Janney, well-known obstetrician and a vice-president of the League, said the unprecedented total of signatures indicated increased interest in education for marriage and parenthood.

"There are an increasing number of divorces and, without question, the number of broken homes contributes to delinquency," he said. "An amended law would make for better, healthier and happier families, and better families make better communities."

The initial petition was filed Aug. 1 with the following 10 signatures: President Karl T. Compton, MIT; Dr. Nathaniel W. Faxon, Massachusetts General Hospital; Dr. Robert H. Goodwin, Dr. Frederick C. Irving, Henry P. Kendall, Dr. Samuel A. Levine, Mrs. Mary Pratt Potter, Dr. John C. Rock, Mrs. Helen G. Rotch and Dr. George M. Shipton.

The supporting signatures were obtained in 260 cities and towns throughout the state and filing of the petitions assures that the question will come before the incoming Legislature.

It was no lovers' quarrel and no bitter words that parted them; merely a realization

Offers to Speed Satira's Trial

HAVANA, Dec. 2 (AP)—The off-and-on murder trial of Patricia (Satira) Schmidt, Toledo dancing girl accused of shooting her lover, John Lester Mee, aboard his yacht last April, is on again today.

One of the prosecutors, Felipe Sarraín, retained by the Mee family, said before the session opened that he intended to offer a compromise for ending all testimony in the case, which has been starting and stopping since Sept. 17. There have been 11 days of testimony by 24 witnesses.

Sarraín said he would offer to waive the four witnesses remaining on his list if the defense would renounce its remaining witnesses. The public prosecutor, Jose Manuel Fuentes Carreiro, has already announced his case is finished.

SAVED BY HUMAN LIFE NET

HAVERHILL, Dec. 2—Mrs. Victoria Rossetti, 53, was under treatment in Hale Hospital today for second degree burns of arms and shoulders, suffered when she was trapped by flames on the second floor of her home in Garden ct. She escaped death by leaping into the arms of four rescuers.

that the long separation had changed them both. Unknown to anyone, Lana flew into Hollywood from New York late Saturday night and was met at the airport by Ty. It was then they decided it was better to make a clean break and announce their parting, so there will be no more conjectures as to their matrimonial plans.

Lana said there was no one else in the life of either of them.

"Actually, it was the newspapers that engaged us. We were never officially engaged to be married. We couldn't be. Ty wasn't free."

"The separation, too, has changed Ty," Lana said. "He saw so much suffering in Europe, he came back determined to spend his time fighting Communism, which, he believes, as we all do, is the scourge of the world. The war has left such bitter marks, and Ty does not seem to be able to forget what he saw."

When Tyrone flew away 13 weeks ago, Lana was at the airport to see him off. They had a farewell dinner a few nights before Ty left—a beautiful affair, with goblets etched with their names entwined with hearts and flowers.

Annabella's separation from Tyrone was officially announced when he returned from South America last year.

She did nothing, however, about divorcing the handsome Power, but when it was printed again and again that she refused to give him his freedom, Annabella wrote to this writer and said she would divorce Tyrone any time he wanted his freedom.

"But," said Annabella, "he has never asked me for a divorce."

Lana returns to New York immediately with her baby and nurse. Later, she will be joined by her mother, and they will go to Sun Valley.

"I won't say," Lana told me, "that I am not sorry Tyrone and I have parted. I think he is one of the finest men I have ever known. But I do understand that he is changed by this separation, and I suppose I am, too."

Communist Propaganda Outflanks U. S.—O'Neil

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—The United States, in its "cold war" with Russia, has been "outjabbed and outflanked on every front" by Communist propaganda, Com. James F. O'Neil of the American Legion said.

Asserting that Congress should provide funds to magnify the State Dept. Voice of America broadcasts to foreign lands, O'Neil told the Legion's Advertising Men's Post 209 that such programs are needed to counteract the "spreading disruptive influence of Communist propaganda." He urged that exports to Russia and its satellites be halted immediately.

Escort Kills Woman, Then Is Slain by Cops

GARY, Ind., Dec. 2 (AP)—Police hunted today for the body of a 26-year-old woman who, they reported, was thrown into a river after she was fatally shot last night in a taxicab by her 45-year-old escort.

He was slain by a policeman after he had hitchhiked a ride in a police squad car and then attempted to beat the officer with a blackjack.

Police said they had not established a definite motive for the slaying of the woman, whom they identified as Miss Georgia Cummins, a house to house saleswoman.

They said her companion was Alex Habeeb, Chicago taxicab driver, who had been keeping company with Miss Cummins since she moved here from Chicago two months ago.

Firemen from nearby Hammond planned to drag the Grand Calumet river. Police said Miss Cummins' body was reported dumped into the river from near the middle of the bridge, a height of about 12 feet.

Det. Sgt. T. V. Curley gave this account of the shooting: Habeeb, Miss Cummins and John Garbert, 41, Gary taxicab driver, had been in a downtown tavern when Habeeb and Miss Cummins quarreled. They went for a ride in Garbert's cab and, about four blocks from the downtown district, Habeeb fired three shots at his woman companion, killing her. He was quoted as shouting:

"I killed her. She stole $300."

Garbert was forced by Habeeb to drive to the western city limits Calumet river. Police said Miss Cummins' body was reported

Solons Study $777,000,000 State, City Plan

Massachusetts legislators today envisioned with varying emotions city and state improvements by both Gov. Bradford and Mayor Curley which eventually would cost $777,000,000.

Mayor Curley, addressing a special legislative commission, proposed a high level, six-lane toll bridge between Boston and East Boston and a motor skyway to cost $100,000,000.

Gov. Bradford then came up with a master plan of the state dept. of public works for modernization of state and metropolitan Boston highways to cost $677,000,000 over a 10-year period.

FRAISES STUDY

It calls for a $352,000,000 outlay on state highways and $325,000,000 more on the streets and bridges of Boston and 23 surrounding cities and towns. Gov. Bradford praised the six-month study as thorough and decried it as "visionary," for its cost, all in the same breath.

The Governor and the mayor part company on the proposed bridge to East Boston airport. Bradford's committee ignored it and centered on an additional two-way tunnel expressway between Boston and East Boston to serve the same purpose.

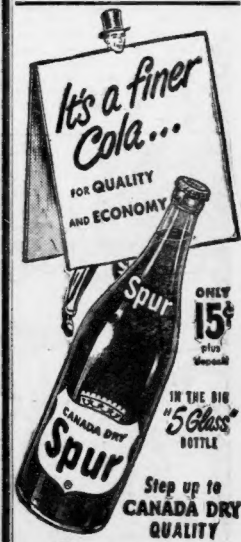

Mayor Curley foresaw Boston "on the verge of a great forward surge" and said the bridge would eventually cost nothing because of the yield in tolls. The skyway, beginning near the South Station and ending at Nashua st., would be financed by the First of Boston Corp., and would also be a revenue producer. Total cost of both he estimated at $40,000,000.

HOUSING IN SPRING

Hospitals and educational buildings for Boston, not included in the Bradford program, Curley estimated to cost $32,000,000 more. He told the commission work will be begun in the spring on the South End's Cathedral housing project and the city will absorb $1,500,000 to $1,750,000 of the cost.

Other improvements he favored were widening of Back st., which runs parallel to Beacon st., along the Esplanade; improvements of Columbus ave., relief of traffic conditions at Cottage Farm bridge and on Belgrade ave., Roslindale, and the completion into Boston of the Newburyport turnpike.

And, for good measure, he threw in a stadium "as big as any in the country."

Meyers Probe Jury Hears Lamarre

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—A grand jury secretly investigating the war-time private business deals of Maj.-Gen. Bennett E. Meyers turned today to a former associate who now calls the general a "snake."

The 23-man panel is considering charges that Meyers, while deputy purchasing chief for the Army Air Forces, actually owned the Dayton firm and profited by more than $150,000 on subcontracts.

Judge Names Dad In Toe-Test Case

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2 (AP)—Superior Judge Leo Freund, who inspected the big toes of a man and boy in his courtroom, has decided the man is the father of the boy.

Miss Mildred Goldberg, 40, sued to establish paternity of her son and asked the court to observe what she termed were similarities in formation of the big toes of Edward W. Pollinger, 39, a market operator, and the boy, Matthew, 7. Judge Freund didn't say whether he considered the big toes in making his finding, but he did declare Pollinger the father and ordered him to pay $40 a month for the boy's support.

Close Contests Predicted As Four Cities Go to Polls

Voters in Salem, Gloucester, Taunton and Newburyport turned out today to register their choice of candidates for various offices in the municipal elections.

The closest contest predicted was in Newburyport, where former Mayor Andrew J. "Boss" Gillis is seeking to unseat Mayor John M. Kelleher, candidate for re-election.

The mayoralty race in Salem was also expected to be close. Mayor Edward A. Coffey, who has served six two-year terms, is running for re-election against strong opposition from State Sen. Joseph B. Harrington and City Council Pres. Philip L. Morency.

In Taunton, 38 candidates are contesting 19 city offices, with former Mayor Merrill D. Aldrich, who resigned his office last year shortly before his indictment on a morals charge, is seeking to regain the post. He is opposed by Mayor John F. Parker, elected to fill the unexpired term.

At Gloucester, the mayoralty contest held the spotlight of public interest. Mayor Weston U. Friend, chief executive for more than seven years, faces stiff opposition from John J. Burke, Jr., popular attorney and local business executive. Others vying for the position are Robert R. Reed and Thomas C. Nolan, World War II veteran.

European Aid Facing Cut In House

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Over the hump of Senate approval the Administration's $85,000,000 stoppage European aid bill faced potent House demands today that it be pared by some $67,000,000.

The measure cleared the Senate by an 83 to 6 vote in substantially the form asked by President Truman two weeks earlier, but it still has a rocky road ahead.

Even the Senate version is $7,000,000 more than the House foreign affairs committee has recommended. And the House group's total includes $60,000,000 for China which the Senate measure did not include.

"Our fight will be to take out the $60,000,000 for China," said a high House Republican. "Even the President did not request emergency aid for China and the Senate provided for assistance only to Italy, France and Austria."

However, the GOP leadership is split on the Chinese question. But Republicans were virtually unanimous in their insistence that the stop-gap bill contain a provision, not in the Senate measure, stating that the Congress is not committing itself to continued foreign aid.

As it stands now, the stop-gap bill merely fixes a top limit on the amount of help that can be provided through next March 31 for Italy, France and Austria.

It is avowedly aimed at halting the spread of Communism in Europe by warding off cold and hunger in the three nations.

Neither the Senate-passed nor the House committee bill appropriates any actual cash. This will be handled in a separate bill which the House committee Bill appropriator will start considering Thursday.

Silent Guest Plan Set for Christmas

The "silent guest" plan to share Thanksgiving with the needy and hungry peoples of Europe was so successful, with at least 10,000 displaced orphans abroad sharing the bounty of generous Americans, that it is to be continued through Christmas, Gov. Bradford announced today.

"In view of the tremendous and heart-warming response of the American people to the idea of entertaining a 'Silent Guest' at holiday dinners by sending the cost of such a dinner to the committee for the purchase of food parcels for hungry Europe, the campaign will continue through Christmas," he stated. People all over the United States gave freely of funds which sent 11,000 pounds of food packages to Austria, Italy, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Czechoslovakia, all in answer to the Governor's plea delivered at Plymouth Rock on behalf of the Governors of 48 states.

There are still 3000 letters unopened and more arriving with each mail up to this time the funds sent $25,000. All the money arrived in time to send a feast for the holiday to those in want and an equally happy result is expected for Christmas. Bradford is chairman of the Governors committee. Governors of the various states and CARE, New York are recipients of the funds.

Son Using Telescope Finds Body of Father

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Dec. 2 (AP)—A son scanning the sea through a dime-in-the-slot telescope found the body of his missing father.

Fritz Kraencke, 57, scenic artist and film set designer, had been missing since Sunday. His son, Herbert, 27, while assisting his mother in a search, used the telescope located at the coast of near Point Firmin. The Coast Guard said Herbert reported seeing a body in the water and when it was brought ashore he identified his father.

Bill Would Make Taverns Of Cafes Selling Little Food

Liquor licenses of restaurants unable to show gross sales of food equal to at least 50 per cent of the gross sales of alcoholic beverages would be changed to those of taverns by terms of a bill filed in the House today by Rep. Edmond J. Donlan, West Roxbury.

Present tavern licenses require that they be closed at 11 p. m. and that women be barred.

Donlan's bill, offered as an amendment to Chapter 138, Section 12 of the General Laws, would require the holder of a restaurant liquor license to file an affidavit by Feb. 1, 1949, attesting to the 50 per cent food sales as compared with liquor sales for 1948.

The bill further provides that where a tavern license has been issued as a substitute for a restaurant license, the holder of it cannot apply for a new restaurant license in the same year.

Local licensing authorities would have the power to determine the truth of affidavits by examining the books of restaurant licenses and to revoke such licenses if it is satisfied in a public hearing that the affidavit was wilfully false. Affidavits would be filed with the licensing authority.

Italy Advances Cash To Cities, Staves Off Strike

ROME, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Italian government staved off a nationwide strike of city employees today by agreeing to furnish municipal governments enough money to pay promised wage increases.

It also announced settlement of a political dispute in Milan, where Leftists almost seized power Friday in vehement and forcible protests against replacement of the prefect (governor) of Milan province, Ettore Troilo, a Leftist.

$7500 Jewelry Stolen From Auto

Carefully avoiding a burglar alarm, thieves today broke into the garaged automobile of Edward Barkow of Chester st., Allston, a salesman, and escaped with $7500 worth of jewelry.

Barkow discovered his loss when he arrived at his garage in Gardner st., near his home, to begin an early morning sales trip to New York. The jewelry, consisting of rings, bracelets and earrings, was owned by a Washington st. jewelry firm.

Barkow's car was parked in the center of a three-car community garage. Police discovered that the thieves entered the stall to the left and then scaled a partition, all the while avoiding a burglar alarm Barkow had installed.

Roxbury Boy, Felled By Fumes, Recovering

Philip McDonald, 19, of Yeoman st., Roxbury, today was recovering at City Hospital from gas fumes inhaled when a kitchen stove exploded at his home.

The victim was rescued promptly by firemen, who crashed in a locked door and dragged the youth from the gas-filled room.

Judges Scourge Tavern Wives

Special to Boston Evening American

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—The tragedy of broken homes and neglected and abused children can be laid, in many instances, to the tavern tipping wife and mother. This is the conclusion of Superior Judge Sabath and Municipal Court Domestic Relations Judge Gorman, based on their years of courtroom observation. "The evidence in the divorce court proves that women with nothing to do in the afternoon, pick up a woman friend and head for the nearest cocktail bar," said Judge Sabath. "What is the disastrous result? Neglected husband and abused children, with the divorce court the end of the marital road."

—A 72-year-old "indigent" widow, seriously ill at Philadelphia General Hospital, was disclosed to be the owner of investments valued at $150,000.
The disclosure came at a hearing before Judge Curtis Bok on the city's request that a guardian be appointed for Mrs. Mary Murphy, who said she is a former school teacher.

It was testified Mrs. Murphy was remanded to the house of correction when police found her wandering in the streets, homeless and apparently penniless, subsisting on scraps begged from restaurant kitchens. She was later transferred to the hospital.

Truman Honors GAR Vet, 100

COFFS FALLS, N. H., Dec. 2 (AP)—James M. Lurvey, New Hampshire's only surviving Civil War veteran, received a letter of congratulation from President Truman on his 100th birthday today.

A son of Falmouth, Me., he was drafted into the army in 1862, fought in battle, and with his Union cap atop his head, beat out a marching tune to back up his assertion: "I'm fine as silk."

Fellow townsmen presented him with an American flag set in a chromium base.

Mrs. Lurvey, to whom the old soldier has been married for 73 years, received a bouquet. She is only 94.

Burned Maine Forest Salvage Started

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Forest Service announced today that operations are being started to salvage 8,000,000 board feet of sawtimber and 6000 cords of pulpwood on the federally-owned Massabesic Experimental Forest, near Alfred, Me., which was swept by a fire in October. The timber and cordwood to be salvaged was burned beyond any possibility of future life and growth.

Mrs. McLaglen Seeks To Divorce Film Star

FRESNO, Cal., Dec. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Suzanne McLaglen filed suit for divorce from Victor McLaglen, film star and Fresno County rancher. She charged cruelty. They were married in Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 19, 1943, and have been separated since last Aug. 25. No request is made for alimony in the filing.

COSTLY FUEL

CLEVELAND, Tenn., Dec. 2 (AP)—James Poe, 60, saw $2295, bulk of his life savings, go up in a blaze—and ruefully admitted the loss was caused by "my carelessness."

Poe reported that as he undressed last night he took his billfold, containing the money, out of a pocket and laid it on a coal shovel. This morning, he used the shovel to heave coal into a stove, forgetting he had left his money on the shovel.

All he retrieved from the stove to show for his $2295 was the zipper on the billfold.

294 Revenue Aides Released in Hub

With 48 more clerks laid off here by the Internal Revenue Bureau, due to Congressional cuts in appropriations, 294 have now been released by the department since June 30, it was revealed today.

Many of those dropped are war veterans and long-time employees with as much as 16 years' government service.

All Internal Revenue employees released here have been those hired for so-called war service and none of them have permanent civil service status, it was stated.

A ruling of the U. S. Civil Service Commission makes it mandatory to replace them with veterans of World War II on permanent civil service lists or by other regular employees—so-called "career men"—who enjoy permanent civil service status.

Those having permanent civil service status, it was explained, may be shifted from one government agency to another when cuts in appropriations make such action necessary.

Curley Against Museum, Would Favor Zoo First

Trustees of the George Robert White Fund meet today under chairmanship of Mayor Curley with the latter unalterably opposed to a plan to build a $1,100,000 museum of natural history with the organization's funds.

Earlier, the trustees tentatively approved the project with Acting Mayor Hynes sitting in as chairman. Mayor Curley, however, declared he was set against such a museum and would even favor a zoo first.

CIO Chiefs Discuss

Truman Pay-Lid Plea

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The CIO's nine vice presidents were called together by President Philip Murray today to decide their policy toward President Truman's anti-inflation program.

Murray and his top lieutenants have been silent since Mr. Truman sent his message to Congress Nov. 17, urging as the final point in a 10-point program power to impose limited price controls and accompanying lids on wages.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 16 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully for centuries to remove all poisons. Doan's Pills give happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MONEY, IT HAS BEEN SAID, does not grow on trees. Of course, if you are raising apples or oranges, it does. That is the trouble with most generalizations: they are only true as long as they happen not to be untrue from a particular point of view.

It is like that process called "common sense," whose common sense, yours or mine? Leconte du Noy, in his magnificent study of fallacy, "Human Destiny," has this to say of common sense:

"... Common sense cannot be trusted. It is common sense that leads us to think that the earth is flat; that two plumb lines are parallel (they are both directed toward the center of the earth and consequently form an angle)..."

He adds:

"If, therefore, the starting point, the premise, of a reasoning is false, the conclusion will, necessarily, logically, be false."

The particular fallacy to which we address ourselves now is the world-wide general assumption that the United States is so rich that it can pour out its wealth in endless profligacy and not go broke. The war cost us about $300,000,000,000. And we have been spending like madmen since the war's end. For instance, about $20,000,000,000 has gone into Europe and Asia and there is little to show for it.

WE SPEND with equal profligacy at home. The President makes a terrific holler about high prices, but the government keeps basic agricultural prices high by subsidies and government buying. Is it a case of the left eye refusing to see what the right eye sees or is the mouth being more speedy than the hand? Put it whichever way you like. This country spent $13,600,000,000 on farm subsidies between 1934 and 1940 and that amount will rise to $13,200,000,000 by next July.

True, if you are a farmer, you want subsidies. If you are a Senator or Representative from a farm state, you will shriek for farm subsidies while, at the same time you will demand that the price of manufactured goods come down.

And all the time you will know that you are a false prophet and a demagogue because that cost of food (often as a labor cost) goes into manufactured goods which runs about 85 per cent labor costs. Therefore, when you demand subsidies for farm products, you are factually demanding high prices for manufactured goods. Of course, you deny that on the general fallacy of common sense, but the figures do not uphold that kind of common sense.

THE SAME IS TRUE of the foreign aid called the Marshall Plan. In Europe, they call it ERP, meaning the European Relief Plan. Whether it is called the Marshall Plan or ERP, it comes to the same thing, about $20,000,000,000. Maybe we have to do that, too. Maybe there is no way out. But let us be absolutely honest about it. If we send $20,000,000,000 out of the country for relief, we shall have to have scarcity here and high prices. That is certain.

So the appeal ought to be on that basis, because whatever is Incongruous. They do not add up. Instead we should be told the truth, which is that it is the judgment of our government and Senator Vandenberg that it is essential for political purposes that certain countries be subsidized by the United States in order to counteract Russian policy in those countries.

To achieve that political end, it is necessary for the American people to tax themselves twice, once by actually paying high taxes to the government; and the second time, by paying higher prices for the goods they buy and for the things they need and use. That is the truthful statement of the case, but the politicians garb it in fulsome language.

YOUR MONEY AND YOUR FREEDOM

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate
New York, Dec. 2.

MRS. WILLA MITCHELL,
Cincinnati, O.

Dear Mrs. Mitchell:
IN THE NOVEMBER ISSUE of the official magazine of the Teamsters' Union, you write about the poverty and anxiety of a mother of four children, between 8 and 15, whose husband, a union driver, works 11 or 12 hours a day for about $55 a week. I assume that Mr. Mitchell's take-home pay is much less.

You said you were a little better off than some other teamsters' families because your rent was only $17.50 a month and the average pay of the others, on the word of the union, itself, was only $50.

This is a queer advertisement for a union whose high-salaried royal court, courtiers, nobles, and intrigants, some of them fat and pompous and others lean and hungry, are always boasting of their priceless service to the men who drive those motorized box cars over the icy highways—the likes of Mr. Mitchell.

If they have done so much to earn their enormous pay and lavish expenses and the loyal attachment of the little people, as Mrs. Roosevelt called all you Mitcheells again, recently, that service doesn't show in your report on the financial condition of your family.

You don't need a union these days to get your pay up to $35 a week for five days of 11 or 12 hours.

I WILL QUOTE from your report:

"My husband hasn't had a raise for more than 18 months and prices were going up all the time. We have what you would call five meatless days a week. On the other two days we have steak or roast. The rest of the time it's cold cuts and vegetables. We haven't had butter for 18 months. We use only margarine."

"The children come first, so if there is any money to buy clothes they get it. My husband hasn't bought an overcoat in four years. My winter coat is three years old. In the last three years I have bought three dresses."

"We have been lucky that none of us has been really sick. I try to doctor the children, but I call a doctor whenever I get worried. Outside of an auto ride to Mainville, Ky., occasionally we don't have much recreation. We haven't gone to a movie or a show for a long time."

"We have had to turn in our war bonds and get a loan for a Frigidaire so we could keep food cold, and my husband needs the car to get to work. My husband will have to get a good raise soon or we will go under."

"We used to be able to get enough food with our money. That was before they took off price controls. Prices will have to be controlled again and wages will have to be made high enough so everyone can at least live without worry."

YOU TEMPT ME to wander off in an argument on price control, but I will just lay it down and continue. Price controls no longer controlled prices. The black market had taken over and there was no meat at all, you will remember if you think back, at ceiling prices and the black market prices were awful.

Then, President Truman, himself, just about election time, wiped out most of the controls in a vain grab for votes and thereafter Congress, not the National Association of Manufacturers, repealed the OPA, and it was Congress also, not the NAM, that passed the Taft-Hartley law, not once but twice.

WHEN YOU WRITE that wages have to be made high enough so everyone can at least live without worry, Mrs. Mitchell, you are speaking of a job for your husband's union, not Congress.

What else is the union for? What kind of union is this whose members have to put in 11 or 12 hours a day and still can't show their children butter in 18 months?

Cincinnati—that is where old Brockey Farrell, the fifth vice-president, who died in October, ran an absolute dictatorship over 11 Teamsters' unions for 24 years by Tuolin's appointment and in all that time wouldn't let the men hold union meetings and refused to account for millions of dollars in union money.

And, finally, when some of the boys got their nerve up and sued in court, the upshot of it all was that the issue never was tried, the facts never were revealed and four lawyers got $3000 apiece of your money by court order.

Money that belonged to these little Cincinnati locals, collected from the miserable wages of men like Mr. Mitchell. Money that might have been spent for meat and butter for the table and clothing.

THAT WAS a hot one on you rank and filers, wasn't it? Your boys take their lives in their hands to sue this old fellow who was placed over those thousands of family men, and the details never came out.

A FUNDAMENTAL difference between free enterprise and collectivism is this—

Under free enterprise the citizen spends his OWN money for the kind of living HE WANTS.

Under the tyranny of collectivism the GOVERNMENT confiscates a very great share of the citizen's money through taxation, AND DOES THE SPENDING ITSELF.

Government bureaucrats expend the citizen's money to provide him with the kind of living THEY WANT HIM TO HAVE—and of course to provide themselves with the kind of living THEY like to have.

Under the New Deal a shift from the free enterprise kind of private spending toward the totalitarian kind of government spending has been steadily in progress.

The astonishing and dangerous degree to which the shift has ACTUALLY BEEN ACCOMPLISHED is revealed in an illuminating article recently published in the "New England Letter" issued by the First National Bank of Boston and illustrated with the maps reproduced here.

THE FIRST MAP indicates the situation in 1929, before the New Deal came to power.

In that year, the "New England Letter" article points out, the Federal Government's total spending ($3.3 billion) amounted to less than two-thirds of the income received by the people of ONLY ONE STATE—California.

The second map shows what a difference had come about by 1938, the fifth year of the New Deal.

In THAT year, Federal expenditures rose to $8 billion, an amount equal to ALL THE INCOME RECEIVED BY ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE ELEVEN WESTERN STATES SHOWN IN BLACK ON THE MAP.

The third map brings us up to last year. The 1946 expenditures of the Federal Government soared to $44 billion. They then became equal to the total amount of income received by ALL THE PEOPLE OF NINETEEN AND ONE-HALF STATES.

That is, the Federal Government spent as much money last year as was received in wages, rents, dividends, royalties, farm income, etc. BY ALL AMERICANS LIVING WEST OF THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER, excepting only the people of Arkansas, Louisiana and half of Missouri.

To illustrate this situation, the third map shows MORE THAN HALF of the geographical area of the United States in black.

Commenting on this map and the disquieting story it tells, The Republican News, a national periodical published under the auspices of the Republican National Committee, gravely and accurately observes:

"When the map gets ALL black, you call it TOTALITARIANISM."

FORTUNATELY the Republican Congress has begun to check the spread of black over the map.

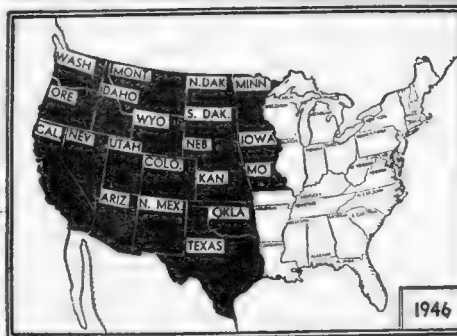

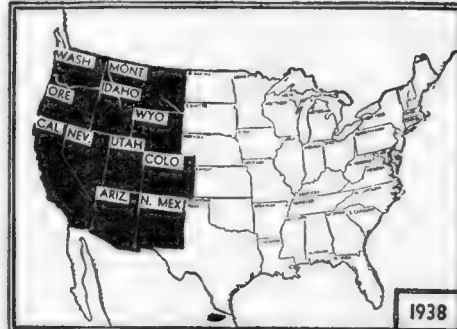

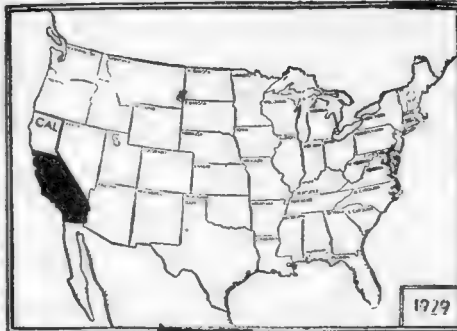

By imposing compulsory reductions in various bureaucratic budgets, Congress has reduced the total of government spending this year.

But FURTHER sharp reductions must be promptly made, both to save the nation's solvency and to preserve its freedom.

The New Deal bureaucrats, who have so long revelled in the luxurious privilege of spending and wasting a steadily increasing and utterly unconscionable share of the people's earnings, must be shorn of that privilege.

The people must be given back the natural right of freedom to SPEND THEIR OWN MONEY for their own purposes and as their own judgment dictates.

Thus one of the first duties of Congress at the present session will be to enact AGAIN a substantial reduction in income taxes, and to pass it over a Presidential veto if necessary.

THE AVERAGE American child stops believing in Santa Claus at the age of seven. In New York the kiddies cease believing in Santa at the age of six. In San Francisco when a father tries to tell his five-year-old son about Kris Kringle coming down the chimney the lad says: "Are you kidding?" I believe in Santa Claus until eight. Then, while out "Christ-

HORSES & WOMEN: Wilfred Funk, who unhesitatingly confesses he prefers blondes, says Roman gentlemen in the B.C. period so preferred blondes that the hairdressers had to send north to get the tresses of Saxon savages to supply the demand for blonde wigs for Roman glamor gels. In the Elizabethan era in England, says Wilfred, the preference for blondes was also general among gentlemen. So great was the demand for natural blonde hair for use in wigs that a blonde wasn't safe alone on the streets of London. Innumerable blondes were held up and shorn of their locks by low characters who sold the hair to wig-makers at fancy prices.

FACE SLAPPERS: Still another irate feminine subscriber is eager to slap my face. She says I never report the good things the stargazers say about Gemini-born females. That she, a Gemini, is "growing weary" of her husband reading aloud with "obvious glee" the adverse reports on Gemini women. I am getting worried about these slapping threats. I believe I will agree to be at a certain place some day and invite all these angry women to come and slap my face and get it over with. But, remember, only one slap to a customer.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 2 (INS)—I must say the reaction to Ronald Reagan's speech before the congressional committee in Washington was very favorable. I heard praise on all sides for the intelligent answers Ron-gave both as an individual and as president of the Screen Actors Guild. You may be sure Jack Warner, who is fighting Communism in Hollywood with our other producers, is giving Ronnie the breaks he deserves. When I asked Jack "Montana," an adventure drama by Ernest Haycox, which Raul Walsh will direct with Williams Jacobs producing.

Ronnie will do plenty of hard riding, and that he likes.

IT'S HARD to believe, even though we all know how sick Ernest Lubitsch was, that he is actually gone. He was always so bright and witty, and always so happy.

I remember the first time I ever interviewed him—in fact, it was the first time he was interviewed in America. He could only say two words—yes and no—and he was so cute the way he kept saying them every few minutes. We had an interpreter. Then, when I met him four weeks later, he spoke English very well. It was amazing how quickly he learned to speak our language.

There never has been a director comparable to Lubitsch in the way of combining comedy. He put in little touches, and with tongue in cheek, managed to convey innuendoes.

He was so delighted to be able to direct a picture again. He had wanted to make "Lady in Ermine" for so long. I interviewed Betty Grable for Pictorial Review, and she told me that to get a director like Ernest Lubitsch to direct her was what she had waited for all her life.

THE DAYS of the big movie money for plays and novels are over. Too many best sellers have gone sour, and too many plays haven't brought adequate returns for the money spent in producing them.

I was talking to Otto Preminger, who has just bought "House by the River" by A. P. Herbert, a novelette that was published 17 years ago. It is a very dramatic story of two close friends who become involved in a murder. One is guilty, but the innocent man is accused, and the guilty refuses to talk up. Preminger can hope, can't he? He would like to have Cary Grant and Rex Harrison.

IF BURGESS MEREDITH hasn't left for England yet, he goes very soon to make a documentary film and to play the lead in "Lawrence of Arabia."

Paulette Goddard joins him there shortly. She is under contract to Alex Korda and will leave as soon as she completes the job she has to do for Paramount.

Paulette does a lot of spouting, but she and many stars who have talked politics rather freely, have ceased their public discussions and very sensibly, since too much talking by any actor makes for enemies.

CHIT CHAT: A unique trial separation arrangement that's new even for Hollywood has been tried in England by Stuart Grainger and his wife, Elsiebeth March. She has the lead in Noel Coward's play "Peace in Our Time," and, as you know, he is one of England's most important male stars.

Seems the Graingers were fighting life the proverbial cats and dogs so they agreed to go out with whomever they wanted during the week, but weekends they promised each other to spend in the country with their children.

Last reports say the arrangement is working out fine and the Graingers are beginning to like each other better.

MONTY BANKS telephoned me today to say he is going to meet Gracie Fields in New York on the 10th when she arrives from England on the Queen Elizabeth.

I did Monty wrong when I didn't explain that he has been an American citizen for many, many years and came to California in 1914. Gracie did three broadcasts a week in London, the proceeds of which went to the Gracie Fields Orphanage, which, since the war, has taken care of more children than ever before. While Gracie and Monty were in Capri in March, a representative of the British government came and asked them to please come to England to help. Gracie is still the darling of the British and is greatly loved.

JAMES CAIN has just finished his long novel, "The Postman," a 200,000-word story dealing with the repression of a young man who honored his way through the country looking for work.

Alfred Knopf is bringing it out, and I am wondering if this is the novel in which Cain's ex-wife, Helen, brings shares in the profits? She took a percentage of his novel in lieu of alimony.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random:

A romance that will bear watching is that of Joan Caulfield and Jimmy Stewart. They have been out several times together. Two nice people, if I may say so.

Jan Gordon, once married to Jennifer Bruce, with Peggy Knudsen at the Mocambo.

Milton Pickman dancing with the ex-Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and apparently having a good time, also at Charlie Morrison's night spot.

Ken Murray's birds received a $5000 gold and silver bird bath as a gift from Francisco her long and successful run at Ciro's.

Joan Caulfield

The seven beauties who appear with Errol Flynn will be exploited much after the same idea as the Goldwyn Girls. They will be called "The Don Juan Beauties."

Jane Harvey, the singer, and Al Morris, the agent, are pricing engagement rings.

Pat Smart is in San Francisco at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Montague, socialite, who has been very ill.

Hue Pritchard, who flew to New York with Grace Hayes for Peter Lind Hayes' opening, is flying to Honolulu to see Zella Mae Sowder, author of "Best of Luck." He's certainly a flying gent.

Paul Douglas will be the house guest of Humphrey Bogart when he comes here to test for "Born Yesterday." Although Bogey was up for the role himself, he is now plugging for Douglas.

So many of the youngsters in New York stopped me to ask when Lew Ayres was going to arrive. Well, he is in New York now, his first visit in the East for years.

Fred and Lily MacMurray get in town in a few days. They are now in Chicago, the guests of the Gene Kravins.

Paula Stone is very proud of a personal letter from Mrs. Harry Truman accepting Paula's invitation to attend the opening of "Sweethearts" in Washington, Dec. 8.

OFFICIALS of TWO GREATER BOSTON BANKS will be pleased to know that the two men who got loans from them, by pledging stolen bonds as security, are up for sentence today in New York. The men are Charles Colton, Boston man-about-town, and William H. Smith of Detroit, whose wife was Rose Beriman of Cambridge. . . . The man who convicted them of receiving stolen property, conspiracy and using the mails to defraud is Myles Lane, a Bostonian of course, ex-football and hockey star and now assistant U. S. attorney in New York (as we mentioned here last week). The Boston FBI office did exceptional work on the case. . . . Colton and Smith face up to 4 years each in a Federal penitentiary.

THE BONDS were part of a $21,000 snatch from a messenger in Wall st., in April, 1942, and theft of $10,000 worth, the following June, from the coat pocket of a broker in a Utica, N. Y., barbershop. The thieves have never been identified. . . . On March 19, 1946, Smith and Colton got a loan of $4500 at a bank in Chelsea by putting up $10,000 worth of New Haven Railroad bonds (from the Utica theft) as collateral. On March 28, $10,000 more in bonds from the Utica lot were put up for a loan of $8000 in Detroit. And on April 4, $6000 worth from the Wall st. snatch were pledged as collateral at a Boston bank for a $2500 loan. . . . At all three banks, officials were told the loans were needed for a business venture in war surplus commodities.

THE SERIAL numbers on the bonds had been changed, so no clue to their origin was obtained until the banks here were asked to sell the pledged securities and remit the money to Smith. By using a South End hotel as a base, Smith collected $2000 from sale of the bonds pledged in Chelsea. But technicalities arose over the sale of the bonds put up at the Boston bank, and Smith was trapped in Detroit. . . . Colton went to Kentucky and re-registered his automobile there, declaring himself a legal resident of that state, but returned to Boston later and surrendered to the FBI. . . . Lane convinced the Federal jury that the pair had knowledge the bonds had been stolen. . . . Further prosecution in Boston is a possibility, and the FBI is after a "bond ring"—believed to be the biggest in the country—supposedly lurks in the shadows.

HARRY TRUMAN has a hotel named after him to match all those named for the two Roosevelts, Lindsays, Grants, etc., throughout the country. It's a tiny one on Tremont st., just beyond Broadway, and known as Truman House. . . . The new Navy Public Information office here is Com. Sam H. P. Read, Jr., USN, of Philadelphia, a transfer from the reserve and a public relations specialist. He replaces Com. Richard Lane, an Annapolis man, who has gone to Washington. . . . Boston has established itself getting "an appetitive city," according to the star men, after noting the patronage accorded "Showboat," "Rose Marie," "Sweethearts," etc. You'll be glad to know "T Student Prince" opens Christmas night, at the O'ry House.

IF YOU BURN OIL, you may be interested to know that 8000 to 10,000 household tanks (275 gallons) have to be replaced every year in England. If they have difficulty getting a new one, it's because of a shortage of steel. The state fire regulations have been relaxed to permit installation of aluminum tanks. Unfortunately, these cost more than the steel tanks (and as much as black market steel tanks). And don't last as long. . . . Congressman Edith Rogers was quoted the other day as saying the Veterans Administration had several hundred thousand dollars sent in as insurance premiums by veterans whom the VA could not identify. But it's the veteran's fault if he failed to identify himself with his remittance. The big failure in the insurance department lies in the fact that hundreds of thousands of dollars has been received from known veterans but cannot be applied to their accounts (except on a tentative basis) because the Veterans Administration has lost their records. These veterans get no premium notices, soon lose confidence and drop their GI insurance.

CROWN PRINCESS MATIA of Norway, now at the Ritz, received flowers yesterday from Carl Brisson. A member of her entourage has reserved a table at the Terrace Room, which indicated she might attend Carl's floor show. Carl attended the princess' marriage to Olaf, now crown prince. . . . It's a week of reunions for the singing Dane. Sunday night he dined at the Viking and went into the kitchen to see his old chef, John Carlson. They last met 25 years ago on the night Carl made his debut (as a dancer) at Gothenburg, Sweden. . . . And we've just got to tell you more about the Brisson turtle. Seems that finding a turtle is the luckiest of signs to a European actor or actress. They spell the turtle's name in diamonds in its back. So Peter-Pauline, found by Carl in St. Louis, will soon have its initials in diamonds in its shell (the name being too long to spell out on Peter-Pauline's little back).

RAY BOLGER, who danced his way to the top of the ladder after graduating from Dorchester High in 1920, gives a major share of the credit for his success to his wife, Gwen. She's from Montana, and her father was superintendent of an Indian reservation. Gwen is here with Ray. . . . Harry Belafonte, singing Ray at the Latin Quarter (on his night off from the Oval Room), told the gathering: "Ray Bolger stands alone. There's only one. He's wonderful." D. B. Stanbro, Stalter manager, has been made an admiral of the Nebraska Navy. That's like being a Kentucky Colonel. It's a tribute to his services to the recent national convention of attorneys general, then headed by Atty. Gen. Walter Johnson of Nebraska. . . . The reason you can rarely stick Herb Lewis on the radio or at the Music Box, with requests for old songs is that he's memorized no less than 8000.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—One of our most enthusiastic horsemen is Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon. He keeps a brace of steeds and goes riding every morning before breakfast.

They tell me he has an excellent "seat" as they say in horse circles, but apparently something has gone wrong.

At any event the equestrian salon sidled furtively into the Capitol's upholstery shop and drew the head upholsterer aside. He said he would like the present seat ripped out of his chair in the Senate chamber and a softer one installed.

He made one stipulation, however. He said he wanted the new seat cushion made so that it would look no different from those on other Senators' chairs. The upholstery shop called Senator Morse and reported the job completed. He came in and punched the cushion to see if it was soft enough but he didn't sit on it.

Maybe they ought to make him a member of a standing committee?

NOSTALGIA DESCENDED in large dogs when the mail brought a short note and newspaper clipping from Sen. Brien McMahon, of Connecticut. The note merely stated: "How times have changed!" but it was the clipping that got me, although it was nearly a month old. It read:

Harlan, Ky., Nov. 4.—Election day in Harlan County once was an occasion for shootings and violence. The only rumpus reported today, however, was caused by a goat that bucked two women and a child, blocked the door of a precinct polling place and held up voting for two hours until a deputy sheriff chased him and restored order. Sen. McMahon was certainly right. Times have changed.

It seems as if it were centuries ago but it's less than 10 years. Harlan is where I first met Sen. McMahon. He was assistant U. S. attorney-general and his mission in Kentucky was to prosecute mine owners and their miners on charges of—committees almost impossible now!

—terrorizing CIO organizers. Feeling in Harlan was so strong that the government transferred the trial to London, Ky., across the mountains. Hotel space in London was gone when I arrived there so I went to live with a preacher on Sublimity st.

PROSECUTOR McMAHON had himself and staff ensconced in a house opposite the Pigg Motor Co. One of the government's principal witnesses was an organizer named—so help me!—Moscow Knuckles.

We spent many happy hours there in arranging a marriage between a theoretical daughter of the auto dealer and the witness so the local papers could carry the wedding announcement: "Pigg-Knuckles."

The government had the strangest collection of names I have ever encountered out of a comic strip. One of the leading CIO organizers, who turned out to be a key witness, was named Marshall Music. And his fellow organizer and closest friend was Green Cornet.

By George Dixon

I remember asking Marshall Music if he had been named after a Sousa arrangement. He looked blank. Then I asked him if he hadn't been kidded a lot over his name.

"For what?" he demanded solemnly. "Marshall is quite a common first name in Kentucky."

The government finally lost the case, but the CIO wound up on top. It got the mines organized—and we haven't heard much about intimidation since. I am glad that things are now peaceful in Harlan, even if the livestock gets a little out of line. I wonder if that was a CIO goat?

THE DEPARTMENT of Commerce reveals that heavy purchases of furs from Russia for American women's coats gave the Soviet Union a favorable trade balance with this country of nearly $11,000,000 in September alone.

Well, the warmer our dames keep in their Russian sables, the hotter Russia can make it for all of us.

YOUR MONEY AND YOUR FREEDOM

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 2.

MRS. WILLA MITCHELL,
Cincinnati, O.

Dear Mrs. Mitchell:

IN THE NOVEMBER ISSUE of the official magazine of the Teamsters' Union, you write about the poverty and anxiety of a mother of four children, between 8 and 15, whose husband, a union driver, works 11 or 12 hours a day for about $55 a week. I assume that Mr. Mitchell's take-home pay is much less.

You said you were a little better off than some other teamsters' families because your rent was only $17.50 a month and the average pay of the others, on the word of the union, itself, was only $50.

This is a queer advertisement for a union whose high-salaried royal group, courtiers, nobles, and intrigants, some of them fat and pompous and others lean and hungry, are always boasting of their priceless service to the men who drive those motorized box cars over the icy highways—the likes of Mr. Mitchell.

If they have done so much to earn their enormous pay and lavish expenses and the loyal attachment of the little people, as Mrs. Roosevelt called all you Mitchells again, recently, that service doesn't show in your report on the financial condition of your family.

You don't need a union these days to get your pay up to $55 a week for five days of 11 or 12 hours.

I WILL QUOTE from your report:

"My husband hasn't had a raise for more than 15 months and prices were going up all the time. We have what you would call few meatless days a week. On the other two days we have steak or roast. The rest of the time it's cold cuts and vegetables. We haven't had butter for 18 months. We use only margarine.

"The children come first, so if there is any money to buy clothes they get it. My husband hasn't bought an overcoat in four years. My winter coat is three years old. In the last three years I have bought three dresses.

"We have been lucky that none of us has been really sick. I try to doctor the children, but I call a doctor whenever I get worried. Outside of an auto ride to Mayville, Ky., occasionally we don't have much recreation. We haven't gone to a movie or a show for a long time.

"We have had to turn in our war bonds and get a loan for a Frigidaire so we could keep food cold, and my husband needs the car to get to work. My husband will have to get a good raise soon or we will go under.

"We used to be able to get enough food with our money. That was before they took off price controls. Prices will have to be controlled again and wages will have to be made high enough so everyone can at least live without worry."

YOU TEMPT ME to wander off in an argument on price control, but I will just lay it down and continue. Price control is longer controlled prices. Then, President Truman, himself, just about election time, wiped out most of the controls in a vain grab for votes and thereafter Congress, not the National Association of Manufacturers, repealed the OPA, and it was Congress also, not the NAM, that passed the Taft-Hartley law, not once but twice.

What else is the union for? What kind of union is this whose members have to put in 11 or 12 hours a day and still can't show their children butter in 18 months?

In the Elizabethan era in England, says Wilfred, the preference for blondes was also general among gentlemen. So great was the demand for natural blonde hair for use in wigs that a blonde wasn't safe alone on the streets of London. Innumerable blondes were held up and shorn of their locks by low characters who sold the hair to wig-makers at fancy prices.

FACE SLAPPERS: Still another irate feminine subscriber is eager to slap my face. She says I never report the good things the stargazers say about Gemini-born females. That she, a Gemini, is "growing weary" of her husband reading aloud with "obvious glee" the adverse reports on Gemini women. I am getting worried about these slapping threats. I believe I will agree to be at a certain place some day and invite all these angry women to come and slap my face and get it over with. But, remember, only one slap to a customer.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 2 (INS) —I must say the reaction to Ronald Reagan's speech before the congressional committee in Washington was very favorable. I heard praise on all sides for the intelligent answers Ronnie gave, both as an individual and as president of the Screen Actors Guild.

You may be sure Jack Warner, who is fighting Communism in Hollywood with our other producers, is giving Ronnie the breaks he deserves. When I asked Jack what next for Ronnie, he said, "Montana," an adventure drama by Ernest Haycox, which Raoul Walsh will direct with Williams Jacobs producing.

Ronnie will do plenty of hard riding, and that he likes.

IT'S HARD to believe, even though we all know how sick Ernst Lubitsch was, that he has actually gone. He was always so bright and witty, and always so happy.

I remember the first time I ever interviewed him—in fact, it was the first time he was interviewed in America. He could only say two words—yes and no—and he was so cute the way he kept saying them every few minutes. We had an interpreter. Then, when I met him four weeks later, he spoke English very well. It was amazing how quickly he learned to speak our language.

There never has been a director comparable to Lubitsch in the way of sophisticated comedy. He put in little touches and, with tongue in cheek, managed to convey innuendoes.

He was so delighted to be able to direct a picture again. He had wanted to make "Lady in Ermine" for so long. I interviewed Betty Grable for Pictorial Review, and she told me that to get a director like Ernst Lubitsch to direct her was what she had waited for all her life.

THE DAYS of the big movie money for plays and novels are over. Too many best sellers have gone sour, and too many plays haven't brought adequate returns for the money spent in producing them.

I was talking to Otto Preminger, who just bought "Hush by the River" by A. P. Herbert, a novelette that was published 17 years ago. It is a very dramatic story of two close male friends who become involved in a murder. One is guilty, but the innocent man is accused, and the guilty refuses to talk up.

Preminger can hope, can't he? He would like to have Cary Grant and Rex Harrison.

IF BURGESS MEREDITH hasn't left for England yet, he goes very soon to make a documentary film and to play the lead in "Lawrence of Arabia."

Paulette Goddard joins him there shortly. She is under contract to Alex Korda and will leave as soon as she completes the job she has to do for Paramount.

Paulette does a lot of spouting, but she and many stars who have talked politics rather freely, have ceased their public discussions and very sensibly, since too much talking by any actor makes for enemies.

CHIT CHAT: A unique trial separation arrangement that's new even for Hollywood has been tried in England by Stuart Grainger and his wife, Elsiebeth March. She has the lead in Noel Coward's play "Peace in Our Time," and, as you know, he is one of England's most important male stars.

Seems the Graingers were fighting life the proverbial cats and dogs so they agreed to go out with whomever they wanted during the week, but weekends they promised each other to spend in the country with their children.

Last reports say the arrangement is working out fine and the Graingers are beginning to like each other better.

MONTY BANKS telephoned me today to say he is going to meet Gracie Fields in New York on the 10th when she arrives from England on the Queen Elizabeth.

I did Monty wrong when I didn't explain that he has been an American citizen for many, many years and came to California in 1944.

Gracie did three broadcasts a week in London, the proceeds of which went to the Gracie Fields Orphanage, which, since the war, has taken care of more children than ever before. While Gracie and Monte were in Capri in March, a representative of the British government came and asked them to please come to England to help. Gracie is still the darling of the British and is greatly loved.

JAMES CAIN has just finished his longest book, "The Moth," a 200,000-word story dealing with the impressions of a young man who hoboed his way through the country looking for work.

Alfred Knopf is bringing it out, and I am wondering if this is the novel in which Cain's ex-wife, Aileen Pringle, shares in the profits? She took a per centage of his novel in lieu of alimony.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random:

A romance that will bear watching is that of Joan Caulfield and Jimmy Stewart. They have been out several times together. Two nice people, if I may say so.

Jay Gould, once married to Jennifer Bruce, with Peggy Knudsen at the Mocambo Milton Pickman dancing with the ex-Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and apparently having a good time, also at Charlie Morrison's night spot.

Ken Murray's birds received a $3600 gold and silver bird bath as a gift from Francisco Pignatelli.

Brazilian multi-millionaire. These are the birds that appear in Ken's picture.

Kay Thompson presented H. O. Hoover of Ciro's with gold cuff links in appreciation for her long and successful run at Ciro's.

The seven beauties who appear with Errol Flynn will be exploited much after the same idea as the Goldwyn Girls. They will be called "The Don Juan Beauties."

Jane Harvey, the singer, and Al Morris, the agent, are pricing engagement rings.

Pat Smart is in San Francisco at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Montague, socialite, who has been very ill.

Hal Pritchard, who flew to New York with Grace Hayes for Peter Lind Hayes' opening, is flying to Honolulu to see Zella Mae Soudier, author of "Best of Luck." He's certainly a flying gent.

Paul Douglas will be the guest of Humphrey Bogart when he comes here to test for "Born Yesterday." Although Bogey was up for the role himself, he is now plugging for Douglas.

So many of the youngsters in New York stopped me to ask when Lew Ayres was going to arrive. Well, he is in New York now, his first visit in the East for years.

Fred and Lily MacMurray get in town in a few days. They are now in Chicago, the guests of the Gene Tracys.

Writer John McClaine, a popular boy around town, left today to become a huckster with one of the big advertising agencies in New York.

Paula Stone is very proud of a personal letter from Mrs. Harry Truman accepting Paula's invitation to attend the opening of "Sweethearts" in Washington, Dec. 8.

seems almost impossible now!

—terrorizing CIO organizers. Feeling in Harlan was so strong that the government transferred the trial to London, Ky., across the mountains. Hotel space in London was gone when I arrived there so I went to live with a preacher on Sublimity st.

PROSECUTOR McMAHON had himself and staff ensconced in a house opposite the Pigg Motor Co. of the government's principal witnesses was an organizer named—so help me!—Moscow Knuckles.

We spent many happy hours theoretically arranging a marriage between a theoretical daughter of the auto dealer and the witness so the local papers could carry the wedding announcement: "Pigg-Knuckles."

The government had the strangest collection of names I have ever encountered out of a comic strip. One of the leading CIO organizers, who turned out to be a key witness, was named Marshall Music. And his fellow organizer and closest will be pleased to know that the two men who got loans from them, by pledging stolen bonds as security, are up for sentence today in New York. The men are Charles Colton, Boston man-about-town, and William H. Smith of Detroit, whose wife was Rose Bernman of Cambridge. The man who convicted them of receiving stolen property, conspiracy and using the mails to defraud is Myles Lane, a Bostonian of course, ex-football and hockey star and now assistant U.S. attorney in New York (as we mentioned here last week). The Boston FBI office did exceptional work on the case. Colton and Smith face up to 47 years each in a Federal penitentiary.

THE BONDS were part of a $21,000 snatch from a messenger in Wall st., in April, 1942, and theft of $40,000 worth, the following June, from the coat pocket of a broker in a Utica, N. Y., barbershop. The thieves have never been identified. On March 19, 1946, Smith and Colton got a loan of $4500 at a bank in Chelsea by putting up $10,000 worth of New Haven Railroad bonds (from the Utica theft) as collateral. On March 28, $10,000 more in bonds from the Utica lot were put up for a loan of $8000 in Detroit. And on April 4, $6000 worth from the Wall st. snatch were pledged as collateral at a Boston bank for a $2500 loan. At all three banks, officials were told the loans were needed for a business venture in war surplus commodities.

THE SERIAL numbers on the bonds had been changed, so no clue to their origin was obtained until the banks here were asked to sell the pledged securities and remit the money to Smith. By using a South End hotel as a mail "drop," Smith collected $2000 from sale of the bonds pledged in Chelsea. But technicalities arose over the sale of the bonds put up at the Boston bank, and Smith was trapped in Detroit. Colton went to Kentucky and re-registered his automobile there, declaring himself a legal resident of that state, but returned to Boston later and surrendered to the FBI. Lane convinced the Federal jury that the pair had knowledge the bonds had been stolen. Further prosecution in Boston is a possibility, and the FBI is after a "bond ring"—believed to be the biggest in the country—that supposedly lurks in the shadows.

HARRY TRUMAN has a hotel named after him to match all those named for the two Roosevelts, Lincoln, Grant, etc., throughout the country. It's a tiny one on Tremont st., just beyond Broadway, and known as Truman House. The new Navy Public Information officer here is Com. Saul P. Read, Jr., USN, of Philadelphia, a transfer from the reserve and a public relations specialist. He replaces Com. Richard Lane, an Annapolis man, who has gone to Washington. Boston has established itself as "an opera city," according to theater men, after noting the patronage accorded "Showboat," "Rose Marie," "Sweethearts," etc. You'll be glad to know "The Student Prince" opens Christmas night, at the Opry House.

IF YOU BURN OIL, you may be interested to know that 800 to 10,000 household tanks (275 gallons) have to be replaced every year in New England. If you're having difficulty getting a new one, it's because of a shortage of steel. The state fire regulations have been relaxed to permit installation of aluminum tanks. Unfortunately, these cost more than the steel tanks (and as much as black market steel tanks). And don't last as long. Congresswoman Edith Rogers was quoted the other day as saying the Veterans Administration had several hundred thousand dollars sent in as insurance premiums by veterans whom the VA could not identify. But, it's the veteran's fault if he failed to identify himself with his remittance. The big failure in the insurance department lies in the fact that hundreds of thousands of dollars has been received from known veterans but cannot be applied to their accounts (except on a tentative basis) because the Veterans Administration has lost their records. These veterans get no premium notices, soon lose confidence and drop their GI insurance.

CROWN PRINCESS MATHA of Norway, now at the Ritz, received flowers yesterday from Carl Branson. A member of her entourage has reserved a table at the Terrace Room, which indicated she might attend Carl's floor show. Carl attended the princess' marriage to Olaf, now crown prince. It's a week of the crown prince singing dance. Sunday night he dined at the Viking and went into the kitchen to see his old chef, John Carlson. They last met 25 years ago on the night Carl made his debut (as a dancer) at Godeburg. So far. And we've just got to tell you more about the Brisson turtle. Seems that finding a turtle is the luckiest of signs to a European actor or actress. They spell the turtle's name in diamonds in its back. So Peter-Pauline, found by Carl in St. Louis, will soon have its initials in diamonds in its shell (the name being too long to spell out on Peter-Pauline's little back).

RAY BOLGER, who danced his way to the top of the ladder after graduating from Dorchester High in 1920, gives a major share of the credit for his success to his wife, Gwen. She's from Montana, and her father was superintendent of an Indian reservation. Gwen is here with Ray. Harry Richman, spotting Ray at the Litch Quarter (on his night off from the Oval Room), told the gathering: "Ray Bolger stands alone. There's only one. He's wonderful." D. B. Stanbro, Statler manager, has been made an "admiral of the Nebraska Navy." That's like being a Kentucky Colonel, a tribute to his services to the recent national convention of attorneys general, then headed by Atty. Gen. Walter Johnson of Nebraska. The reason you can rarely stick Herb Lewis on the radio or at the Music Box, with requests for old songs is that he's memorized no less than 8000.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, DEC. 2, 1947

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2—

One of our most enthusiastic horsemen is Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon. He keeps a brace of steeds and goes riding every morning before breakfast.

They tell me he has an excellent "seat," as they say in horsey circles, but apparently something has gone wrong.

At any event the equestrian colonel sidled furtively into the Capitol's upholstery shop and drew the head upholsterer aside. He said he would like the present seat ripped out of his chair in the Senate chamber and a softer one installed.

He made one stipulation, however. He said he wanted the new seat cushion made so that it would look no different from those on other Senators' chairs.

The upholstery shop called Senator Morse and reported the job completed. He came in and punched the cushion to see if it was soft enough but he didn't sit on it.

Maybe they ought to make him a member of a standing committee?

NOSTALGIA DESCENDED in large gobs, when the mail brought a short note and newspaper clipping from Sen. Brien McMahon, of Connecticut.

The note merely stated: "How times have changed!" but it was the clipping that got me, although it was nearly a month old. It read:

Harlan, Ky., Nov. 4—Election day in Harlan County once was an occasion for shootings and violence. The only rumour reported today, however, was caused by a goat that bucked two women and a child, blocked the door of a precinct polling place and held up voting for two hours until a deputy sheriff chased him and restored order.

Sen. McMahon was certainly right. Times have changed.

It seems as if it were centuries ago but it's less than 10 years. Harlan is where I first met Sen. McMahon. He was assistant U. S. attorney-general and his mission in Kentucky was to prosecute mine owners and their miners on charges of—

Officials to Attend W. H. Ensign Rites

WESTFIELD, Dec. 2—State, county and city officials will attend funeral services here tomorrow for William H. Ensign, president of the Massachusetts Greyhound Ass'n and one of the founders of the State racing code, who died at Mercy Hospital in Springfield after a brief illness.

The services will be at 2 p. m. in the Second Congregational Church. Mr. Ensign would have celebrated his 75th birthday anniversary today.

Named a racing commissioner by Gov. Ely when the sport was first legalized in Massachusetts, he made his home here in Little River st., and was affiliated with the Massachusetts organization with Russ Murray and John McMeniman when the Raynham dog track was developed. He was active in Western Massachusetts politics and for 12 years was a commissioner of Hampden County.

Surviving are his widow, Catherine; two children, William H. Ensign, Jr., of Westfield, and Mrs. Ernest Holtzner of Wellesley Hills; and six grandchildren.

JVA Units Join in Salvage of Fats

Patriotic boys and girls of the Junior Victory Army are asked to continue doing their good job of salvaging and turning in every pound of waste fats to their butcher. Unless 10,000,000 pounds of greases are turned in monthly the supply for industrial use is expected to remain short.

In order to make soaps, paints, tires, textiles, leather goods, floor coverings, electrical appliances, fertilizers, animal feed, veterinary preparations and other products the manufacturers need a tremendous amount of fats and oils.

American soap manufacturers have turned all the fats and oils they have been able to obtain into soap just as quickly as possible. Last year, more than one out of every nine packages of soap sold was made from used fats saved from a American's kitchens.

If the fats and greases are delivered in proper metal containers with no ragged edges butchers will pay for the material.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to the Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, well-wrapped in your letter.

Incumbents Win As 4 Maine Cities Choose Officials

The tightest balloting in several years was recorded in four Maine city elections—at Waterville, Portland, Bangor and Rockland—and all seats were won by clear majorities.

In Waterville businessman Russell M. Squire was elected Republican Mayor over Democratic candidate Edmund S. Muskie, lawyer, by 3283 votes to 2854. Squire will take over from retiring Mayor H. Chesterfield Marden on Jan. 1.

City Council Chairman Herman B. Libby was re-elected councilor-at-large in Portland, defeating William H. O'Brien by 762 votes. Incumbent Mrs. Helen R. Andrew, Dr. Myron G. Ladd, Portland osteopath, and Eliot P. Perkins, attorney, defeated Edmund C. Ritchie and Herschel M. Nickerson for the three seats on the school committee.

Four Councilors in Bangor, incumbents Harold E. Kelleher, undertaker; Charles E. Sheehan, and Charles C. Morris, treasurer of the Bangor & Aroostook R. R., were the successful candidates.

Rockland voters elected Councilor William J. Sullivan and D. Robert McCarty to 3-year terms on the City Council over Arthur F. Lamb and John W. Lane. Charles E. Bicknell was unopposed for a one-year council term. Harold W. Whitehill and Charles H. McIntosh were re-elected to the school board.

Teachers to Vote In Equal Pay Row

The Boston Teachers' Alliance will act today on incorporating equal pay for men and women teachers in their proposed salary demands.

Nearly 3300 members of the Alliance will participate in a ballot, partly by telephone.

The question of equal pay flared up again, this time as a domestic issue, as a result of a heated mass meeting of Alliance members at Tremont Temple last night.

The outburst began when John H. Brougham, president of the Alliance, announced that the executive board had considered dropping the demand for equal pay if enough money was appropriated for the full pay raises requested last year. With raises and equal pay, the appropriations were estimated at $6,400,000.

VFW Official Urges Members Aid Universal Training Drive

By DAN MARKEL

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The Veterans of Foreign Wars today joined the Universal Military Training petition crusade. Omar B. Ketchum, national VFW legislative director, urged that members clip and use reproductions of the official petition to Congress published in the Hearst newspapers. He said: "It is my sincere wish that each member not only clip and sign the petition form appearing in his newspaper, but that he attach a blank sheet of paper to it and have his family and friends add their names.

"Then it should be mailed promptly to his representative in Congress. Ketchum also hopes 'all other readers of the Hearst newspapers, both veterans and non-veterans, help the cause of national security by signing and mailing the petitions in the Hearst newspapers.' WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—A House sub-committee looks into the Reconstruction Finance Corp.'s book today as a starter on a full dress investigation of government war buying.

Rep. Bender (R.) Ohio, chairman of the executive expenditures subcommittee on purchasing, said the inquiry will run at least a month.

The first scheduled witness is F. Coleman Andrews of Richmond, Va., who made a special audit of the R. F. C.'s books at the request of the committee. Smart Set Otis-Dale Bridal

By BETTY ALDEN

FRIENDS OF THE newlywed Mr. and Mrs. William A. Otis will have no difficulty recalling the couple's street address for they are to live on Otis pl., a picturesque byway at the foot of Beacon Hill named for the groom's ancestors who figured prominently in the patriotic history of Boston.

The bride is the former Mrs. Alice Merriam Dale, daughter of Mrs. Ralph Weld Gray of Walnut st. and the late Charles Merriam. The wedding took place at Mrs. Gray's home yesterday noon with only members of the immediate families attending.

Mrs. Otis made her debut at the Chilton Club in 1932 after graduating from Oldfields School, and is a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club. Mr. Otis is the son of Mrs. Harrison Gray Otis of Marlborough st. and the late Mr. Otis. He graduated from Harvard in 1917.

MRS. B. HARRISON RAGLE of Marlborough st., gave a tea yesterday for the sponsoring committee and deb ushers who are helping her plan a timely pre-holiday luncheon to benefit the Unitarian Service Committee.

The affair takes place Dec. 9 at the Copley Plaza with an entertainment entitled Christmas Eve on Beacon Hill, a gift and holiday fashion show and a concert of chorals by student nurses of the Deaconess Hospital.

Proceeds will be used to further the Service Committee's non-sectarian overseas program of medical rehabilitation, child care and emergency relief. Recent additions to the sponsoring committee include Mrs. David B. Arnold, Mrs. Frederick M. Eliot, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Allen, Misses Harriot and Margaret Curtis, Mrs. Alexander Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen S. Fitzgerald, Hon. and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Mrs. Hollis Gleason, Mrs. J. Philip Lane, Mr. Henry Copley Greene and Dr. and Mrs. Harold C. Stuart.

INVITATIONS to Christmas weddings are arriving in every mail. Prominent among the holiday nuptials will be that of Joan Eleanor Mitchell of Brookline and Robert Shaw Sturgis of Weston at St. Paul's Church, Brookline, Saturday, Dec. 20.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward M. P. Mitchell, at whose home the wedding reception will take place. She attended schools in Europe when her father was in the foreign service, graduated from St. Catherine's in Richmond, Va., and Erskine School. She made her debut in Boston in 1941. Mr. Sturgis is the son of Mrs. R. Thomas Sturgis and the late Mr. Sturgis of Weston. He is a Harvard 1944 graduate and member of Signet Society and D. U.

A number of prominent young Bostonians will be in the wedding party when Patricia Sayre Johnson of New York becomes the bride of James Sedgwick Deely of Lee the Saturday after Christmas at St. Joseph's Church, Stockbridge. The future bride is the daughter of Mr. Owen Johnson of New York and Coconut Grove, Fla., and the late Katherine B. Johnson. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John M. Deely.

Their bridesmaids and ushers will include Mrs. John Coolidge, Jr., of Boston, John P. Sedgwick, Jr., Brookline, and William P. Hall, Needham.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM V. M. FAWCETT of Newton are entertaining the men's committee of the Wellesley College 75th anniversary fund drive at a dinner party at their home this evening. Mr. Fawcett is chairman of the men's group which is assisting Wellesley alumnae of the Boston region in raising their share of the nationwide campaign.

Their guests will include President Mildred McAfee Horton of Wellesley, Mrs. Theodore C. Haffner of Brookline, Mr. and Mrs. Quinton Rush of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Gaskill, Belmont, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Carpenter, Boston, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Winer, Brookline, Mr. and Mrs. David T. Pottinger, Cambridge, Mr. and Mrs. E. Russell Davis, Lincoln, and a number of others.

Jap Press Sees Hirohito Denied Truth on Tour

TOKYO, Dec. 2 (AP)—The newspaper Asahi suggested today that Emperor Hirohito toured Japan incognito to get a more accurate view of his country.

Clears Disturbed Skins

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

ANY MAKEUP is only as good as the complexion underneath. That's a pretty basic, fundamental premise which . . . presumably . . . every girl should know. In her excitement of using cosmetics . . . it is a lesson which many a girl forgets. In her anxiety to look pretty . . . to make an impression on the Big Moment . . . she overlooks the condition of her complexion and concentrates on what she slaps over it . . . whether it is good or bad for the skin.

Now, since the trend is toward sheerer foundations and a higher dusting of face powder . . . the complexion shows more than ever. The concealing art is passe. Beauty will out . . . is more truth than fiction. In fact, the very essence of the pretty girl look is a smooth, flawlessly clear skin.

If young skins were handled with care they would look like young skins . . . instead of worried, troubled pellets. They'd be soft, glowing and bluish-free. There's nothing in the books that says a young skin must erupt. The blemished skin usually associated with adolescence is a fallacious theory to begin with. The young skin may be extra-sensitive . . . but it is disturbed only when it is mistreated.

Girls today start using cosmetics at a much earlier age than in my day . . . and don't think my birthday adds up to any big figure. Maybe it is because of the precocity of this day and age . . . or the new role thrust upon youth during war years. Whatever it is . . . young girls are doing a terrible job on their complexions with undisciplined use of hit and miss cosmetics to which their young skins are not amenable.

RICH IN SMOOTHING INGREDIENTS

If your skin is disturbed and would welcome the soothing action of an incomparable cream soap . . . there is one that is rich in special softening and smoothing ingredients. Its creamy feeling on the skin makes scrubbing a pleasure.

It is splendidly effective for helping to clear up those annoying blackheads and bumps. For an oily condition . . . brisk scrubbing two or three times daily with this cream soap will be most beneficial . . . because it leaves the complexion looking fresher, clearer, much brighter. The special softening ingredients in this cream soap prevent the formation of dry scales which so often add to the discomfort of an oily skin.

Fine-milled, delightfully fragrant . . . it works equally well in hard or soft water . . . and lasts a long time. Young boy . . . as well as young girl . . . would use it to good and great advantage.

For the name of this cream soap to clear up the disturbed young skin, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 2-4090, any day except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THIS clear-skinned, bright-eyed young beauty has a right to go whimsical on her hood . . . with Eaco comic-strip sweethearts in brightly-colored enameled pins accentuating her face . . . because the gay chateleine points up the transparency and unblemished glow of her apple-cheeked charm. The pretty girl look takes pampering!

Christmas Gifts for Their Boy Friends

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am very perplexed about giving a gift to a boy friend at Christmas time. I am 15 and the boy is 17 and out of school. I don't go steady with him, as my mother won't allow it, but I do go out with him every Sunday, usually roller-skating.

I expect to receive a gift from him, as he gave me a birthday . . .

gift, but my mother doesn't think it proper for me to buy him one. I thought something impersonal, like cigarettes or a wallet, would be all right. But I don't know what to do.

"PERPLEXED."

Dear "Perplexed": I see no reason at all why you should not give your boy friend a Christmas gift if you would like to do so. To exchange simple and inexpensive gifts does not indicate that your friendship is anything but a normal companionship between a boy and a girl.

Of course you are right in thinking it should be an impersonal type of thing. Cigarettes would be appropriate, or a book on some subject in which he is interested; perhaps a game, records, etc.

Gray Flannel as Housecoat

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

ASK a woman how she would like a gray flannel robe and she'll tell you with proper gestures of horror that she'd just as soon have a set of long red flannel undies, thank you. She is obviously thinking of the shapeless coverall that great aunt Matilda used to wear over her no-nonsense cotton nightgowns.

The star makers of Hollywood have transformed the gray flannel robe into a glamorous thing. Irene Sharoff, designing for Loreita Young in Samuel Goldwyn's forthcoming picture, "The Bishop's Wife," has taken yards of sheerest pale gray flannel, a hint of old-fashioned elegance, loads of present day sophistication, a proper appreciation of the feminine figure and has shaped these elements into a house coat that is guaranteed to glamorize.

It is made with lots of fullness. The skirt is gored to sweep in long lines. The sleeves are voluminous, though cuffed tightly at the wrists. A fair's bit points into a deep V at the front of the bodice, goes up over the shoulders and around to the back in a capelet. The small collar is bound in satin.

The Correct Thing

ADDED EMPHASIS?—Don't emphasize your remarks with gestures—shaking a finger, tapping the person to whom you are speaking, etc.

Macaroni, Spaghetti Big Aid in Meal Budgeting

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

WHEN FOOD BUDGETS need watching, it is more important than ever to buy quality. Macaroni and spaghetti made of durum wheat are top quality products.

They show what they are made of when they are cooked. They not only keep their shape, but have a fine chewy quality which is a mark of the best macaroni and spaghetti. Smart shoppers look for the words, "Made from Durum Wheat" on the label of every box of these products to make sure that they are buying the finest in cooking and eating quality.

Durum wheat is a special variety of high-protein hard wheat. It is never used for bread making. Although it makes the finest macaroni and spaghetti, it does not make good bread. That is why, although macaroni is a wheat food, it is all right for American home-makers to use it freely. It is fortunate that this is so, too, for without the good durum wheat foods, meal planning would be a much greater problem than it is now.

Macaroni, spaghetti and noodles effectively capture and stretch the savory flavors of meats and vegetables in tasty casserole dishes. Creamy macaroni with meat is an excellent way to make one-half pound of ground meat serve five people. Elbow macaroni is the foundation of this dish. Sour cream in the sauce gives a new flavor that is certain to make it a favorite.

CREAMY MACARONI WITH MEAT

1 tbsp. salt
3 qts. boiling water
1/2 lb. elbow macaroni
1/2 cup fat
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
1/2 lb. ground meat
2 tsp. salt
2 tsp. paprika
2 tbsp. enriched flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup sour cream
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs

Add 1 tbsp. salt to actively boiling water. Gradually add macaroni and boil until tender (about 10 minutes). Drain and rinse. Melt fat in skillet. Add onion, mushrooms and meat. Brown well, about 15 minutes. Add salt, paprika and enriched flour. Mix well. Add milk, cream and parsley. Fold in macaroni. Pour into greased 2-qt. baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. (Sprinkle with bread crumbs if desired before baking.) Makes about 5 servings.

If the problem is leftover turkey or chicken, or even duck or guinea hen, the solution is spaghetti scallop with diced turkey. Whole kernel corn in the recipe adds flavor and it, too, can be of the leftover clan. If the vegetable on hand is peas or beans, use them instead of corn. This versatile dish can be varied in many different ways and still turn out good.

SPAGHETTI SCALLOP WITH DICED TURKEY

1 tbsp. salt
3 qts. boiling water
1/2 lb. spaghetti
1 10 1/2 oz. can condensed mushroom soup
1 1/2 cups milk
1 1/2 cups cooked whole kernel corn

Mother to Aid Son In Triangle Killing

Although in a state of near-collapse, Mrs. Joseph Doyle of Forest ave., Everett, today made plans to go to the defense of her son, Donald E. McGowan, 26, former air force navigator, who is charged in Houston, Tex., with slaying his estranged wife's suitor.

Friends said they would do all in their power to aid him when he goes on trial for the murder of Robert Tucker, 24, Texas A. and M. sophomore, the man his estranged wife, Peggy Lou, announced she would marry after she obtained a divorce.

McGowan allegedly confessed to killing Tucker with two shots after repeated warnings to "stay away" from his wife had gone unheeded.

Little Hope Held For Austrian Pact

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Prospects that the Big Four foreign ministers will complete an Austrian treaty at their current London conference were largely discounted today by diplomatic authorities, who said there appeared to be no basis for agreement.

With French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault absent in Paris conferring with the crisis-ridden French cabinet, the foreign ministers were scheduled to receive this afternoon a report from their deputies detailing a complete split between Russia and the Western powers on the issue of German assets in Austria.

34 Barry Sullivan on Boston's Stage and Screen Thursday

Barry Sullivan, of Broadway and Hollywood, will double on stage and screen at the RKO Boston Theater, beginning Thursday when his latest film, "The Gangster," will commence a run there.

Headlining the stage show, Sullivan will be assisted by such popular acts as Connie Haines, radio and recording singing star, the Stroud Twins, the Will Mastin Trio and the Bunin Puppets.

The Broadway actor made his film hit in "Suspense," in which he co-starred with the British skating ballerina, Belita, in his first cinematic "toughie" role.

In "The Gangster," a ruthless film about criminals, Sullivan has the role of a racketeer, a product of the slums, whose desire for the material things in life leads him to break the laws. Suspected of killing a rival gangster, he dies by gangland bullets, just before the police round up his killers.

'Gentlemen From Athens' Applauded in Hub Opening

By PEGGY DOYLE

In a season marked by a succession of serious, well-meant but ineffectual new dramas, Emmet Lavery's new play, "The Gentleman from Athens," comes as a triumphant demonstration of the successful capturing of vital world issues in comedy form.

The new Plymouth hit... it elicited more curtain-calls than we could wait to count at last night's opening... is, as you may recall, the basis of a $2,000,000 defamation suit against the mother of a prominent movie actress.

This play stands on its own as stimulating, humorous entertainment. Aided by brilliant direction by Sam Wanamaker, who was Ingrid Bergman's leading man in "Joan of Lorraine," which he also directed, and by a notable performance by Hollywood's Anthony Quinn, the Martin Goch-Eunice Healey production looks to be something for the boys and girls who follow the ushers down theater aisles.

Quinn, making his stage debut as the new Congressman from California's minuscule town of Athens, is little short of sensational. A Russian Embassy attache.

is played by another stage newcomer, screen actor Feodor Chaliapin, son of the famous Russian basso.

Edith Atwater, that excellent actress who is also good-looking, plays the Virginia heiress who rents the Californian her handsome, ancestral mansion, becomes his secretary and discovers to him his soul. Seen here in "State of the Union" and "Deep Are the Roots," in which she distinguished herself, she again reveals her acting skill, performing with integrity and charm.

Another noteworthy performance is Alan Hewitt's as the heiress-secretary's playboy brother, Broadway actor turned radio writer-producer-actor. Hewitt's witty, knowing portrayal should get him plenty of nibbles from the producers.

And, of course, Ethel Browning, who appeared with Otis Skinner, Nat Goodwin, Joseph Jefferson and Helen Hayes before radio gobbled her up, will be tarrying behind the footlights as of last night's performance. Her spinster-sunt, who champions the raw Congressman when all desert him, is one of the year's choicest characterizations.

40 Suffolk Names Almy Permanent Racing Director

By JACK CONWAY

WILLIAM ALMY, JR., of Westport, has been appointed director of racing and presiding steward at Suffolk Downs, according to an announcement made today by President Allan Wilson. Almy will devote all his time to the East Boston track. This will make it necessary for him to give up his post as steward at Rockingham Park.

Almy has been a steward at Suffolk Downs since 1935, while he has been in the stewards' stand at Rockingham Park since 1936.

His new duties will take him to tracks in all parts of the country. He says his chief job will be to "bring the best type of racing to Suffolk Downs."

Before becoming a racing official, he was a gentleman rider. He competed at Saratoga, Belmont, Brookline and at tracks in Maryland and Virginia. He took part in jumping races and races on the flat.

Born in Brookline in November, 1900, Almy was a student at Noble & Greenough School when the United States entered the first World War in 1917.

He enlisted in the Royal Flying Corps and saw service with this Canadian unit overseas.

The new director of racing was active in the Eastern Horse Club which conducted races at The Country Club in Brookline up to the time Suffolk Downs opened in 1935. He was a member of the board of directors and also a member of the board of stewards.

Almy is married and has three children, William Almy, 3d, 19, a sophomore at Harvard; Sylvia Audry, 11, and William Almy, Jr.

Susan Grinnell, 3.

Seek Better Horses for Suffolk Downs

THE APPOINTMENT of Almy as director of racing on an all-year basis is part of the plan of President Allan Wilson and Judge John Pappas, chairman of the board of directors, to get better horses for the Suffolk Downs meetings next year.

Bill Corum, famous New York Journal columnist, was recently named executive vice president of Suffolk Downs. Corum told me that his principal task will be to get the Vanderbilts and other prominent owners to send their horses here. In the early days of Suffolk Downs, the silks of many of the leading racing stables in the country were shown here in ordinary races. In recent years few prominent stables have shipped to Suffolk Downs other than for stake events.

It will be the task of Almy and Corum to help correct this condition.

Almy and Corum will attend the meeting of the TRA, along with other officials of Suffolk Downs, which will open in Chicago tomorrow and last through Thursday. The Suffolk Downs group was to leave Boston for Chicago today on the same train with Lou Smith and officials of Rockingham Park.

Harry Allen, chairman of the Massachusetts commission, said his board has approved the appointment of Almy to his new berth. Allen is confident Almy will do well and that racing in Massachusetts will benefit. Allen and Owen Gallagher, as well as members of the New Hampshire commission, were to make the trip to Chicago.

Date Muddle Still Menace to N. E. Racing

JUDGE JAMES E. DOOLEY, Charley Connors and Billy Ames were also Chicago bound today.

Dooley is president of the TRA and he will be the presiding officer at the Chicago meeting.

It is unlikely that the managements of the New England tracks will be able to make their usual date arrangements in view of the fact Lincoln Downs, which is not a member of the TRA, has already filed application for 92 days of racing. If Lincoln Downs goes ahead with its present program and receives the backing of the Rhode Island commission, there will be numerous clashes of dates during 1948.

Efforts should be made to avoid unnecessary clashes between the three other tracks. When Narragansett Park and Rockingham Park ran in opposition to each other last summer, both tracks lost money.

Racing will do better in New England if the four tracks, Suffolk Downs, Narragansett Park, Rockingham Park and Lincoln Downs, will enter an agreement that will result in an equitable division of dates and restore harmony.

Gulf Prexy, Owners Meet

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 2 (AP)—James Donn, president of Gulfstream Park, called a meeting of horsemen this morning as the track remained closed after opening the 1947-48 Florida winter racing season yesterday.

Donn did not disclose what he would discuss with the owners who have demanded that minimum purses be increased from $2000 to $2500 and minimum daily purses, exclusive of stake events, be not less than $22,000. Gulfstream officials rejected the request.

As the Hallandale track, 14 miles north of Miami, remained shut down, blacksmiths said they would demand a $25 to $30 increase in their bonus from the owners if the minimum was upped, and jockeys also have signified that they would ask a raise.

Horsemen issued a statement in which they accused Donn of a "long history of unsatisfactory relations."

Donn, who took over the bankrupt plant three years ago, branded the accusation as "absolutely false" and announced that the track would remain closed today.

"I believe our $606,730 mutual play on opening day upheld my contention that we cannot pay minimum daily purses of $22,000," Donn said. "We are paying our $18,000 and cannot go any higher if we are to meet expenses."

Donn said he offered a compromise proposal of $2000 minimum purses for the first 10 days, $2200 for the next ten and $2300 for the last 20 days.

Alex A. Dumstrey of New Orleans, president of the H. B. P. A., announced his group would not accept the compromise.

William Watson, Jr., of Gainesville, secretary of the Florida racing commission, was in touch with Gov. Millard F. Caldwell in Tallahassee but would not say what action might be taken to protect the state's interest.

The State gets 8 per cent of the mutuals handle plus the "bakage"—the odd cents in the mutuals payoff. It is distributed equally among the 67 counties and during the 16 years since racing was legalized has amounted to more than $30,000,000.

Track Will Save Money If It Closes First Week

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 2—Gulfstream Park will do itself good financially if it remains closed until Saturday, horseman pointed out, and maybe that's why Donn is acting tough.

The track is normally expected to suffer a small loss during the first five days of the meeting.

Judging by the opening day's take ($606,730) this week's loss might have reached a substantial figure. Last March 5 the mutual handle was $1,173,590.

If the track doesn't reopen soon, Gov. Millard Caldwell may step into the breach and negotiate a truce. The state received $2,000,000 from Gulfstream, Hialeah and Tropical last year.

Brewers' Pilot Raves About Dark

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 2 (AP)—Unemployed scouts and umpires clutter up the lobby of baseball convention headquarters opposite palm-fringed Biscayne Bay. Brooklyn is understood to have cut loose seven or eight scouts, including the colorful Pepper Martin and Jim Ferrante, who handled the New England district. The Dodgers insist they are not retrenching but merely making changes in personnel.

Players seldom frequent the off season meetings unless they are looking for jobs. Maybe that's why Al Lopez, the veteran catcher, and Bill Lee, who was cut loose by the Chicago Cubs, are helping support the pillars.

Manager Nick Culllop raves when he talks about Alvin Dark, the Boston Braves new shortstop, who played for him last summer at Milwaukee. Culllop, a good talent judge, says the ex-foot-ball star from L. S. U. should hit .300 in the big show.

"I used to have him out there every morning," Culllop said, "I'd pitch curves at him for a half hour and he got so he could hit them pretty good. He has the right attitude and should go a long way."

Gabe Paul, assistant to President Warren Giles of the Cincinnati Reds, explains Cincinnati's drafting of catcher Ferrel Anderson from St. Paul as a protective move.

"One day last summer in Brooklyn when Ray Lamanno was out of the game," Paul recalled, "we blew a ball game just because our reserve catcher couldn't handle Ewell Blackwell. We scouted Anderson thoroughly, watched him when he was with the Dodgers, and believe he can help us.

Tiny Parker, host of the convention as owner of the Miami Club of the Florida International League, likes to show off his unique scoreboard idea.

A white plastic duck waddles across the inning spaces and deposits a large "O" for the visitors with a maximum of Donald Duck squawking. They use it at the park during the summer, with Spanish dialogue when the Havana Cubans play here.

Insiders report that Bob Han-negan, who bought the St. Louis Cardinals recently, may get along without naming any high priced general manager with the assistance of Joe Mathes, Eddie Dyer, Bill Walsingham and former owner Sam Breadon.

The Cuban Professional League reports it is winning the attendance battle with the "Out-law" league which operates in Old Tropical Stadium with such stars as Max Lanier, Fred Martin and other former U. S. players.

If a proposed amendment passes the convention Thursday, all minor leaguers will be eligible to play winter ball next season in Cuba, Venezuela and Panama with permission of their clubs.

Yanks Reported to Have Bought Masterson

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 2 (AP)—The Yankees, disturbed by the sudden turn of events which labeled the bankrolled Red Sox as the team to beat for the 1948 flag, have taken their first direct step toward making a staunch defense of their world championship, it was learned today.

Out of a maze of trade rumors involving nearly every major league team represented here, on the eve of the opening of the National Association's convention, has come the news that the Yankees have completed a deal for pitcher Walter Masterson of the Washington Senators.

While refusing to discuss the report, manager Bucky Harris of the Yankees admitted that a deal for a starting pitcher was on the fire, but added that no official announcement would be made until the major league conclave which begins next Monday in New York.

"We should have an important player deal announcement to make in New York next week," Harris said. "In fact, it looks as if we might have two deals to announce."

"The Red Sox, in obtaining Junior Stephens, Jack Hamman and Ellis Kinder from the St. Louis Browns, have become too tough. We can't afford a stand pat policy."

Masterson is the bespectacled right-hander the Yankees were after in the spring of 1947, together with first baseman Mickey Vernon, but President Clark Griffith of the Senators refused to part with two of his key men. Off to a slow start, the 27-year-old native of Philadelphia won 12 games and lost 16 last season.

TANDBERG LOOKING

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (INS)—Oilo Tandberg, young Swedish heavyweight who only a few months ago thought he was going to get a crack at Joe Louis' title, was in the United States today looking for a bout with "almost anybody."

Tandberg was supposed to get the Louis shot after beating Joe Bakal of Kulpmont, Pa., but was sidetracked. Arriving last night, he said he didn't want to meet Bakal yet, let alone Louis, until he has had a few tune-up bouts in this country.

Right now the Swede would like to take on "some easy guy" at Madison Square Garden.

Celtics Shoot for League Lead In Game With Baltimore

With first place in the Eastern Division within their grasp, the Celtics will make their third effort to pull out a win over the Baltimore Bullets at the Garden tonight. A preliminary contest starting at 7:30 p. m. will pair off Our Lady's of Newton and St. Clements of Somerville.

Celtics will be matching their two-game win streak against the visitors six consecutive victories. The Bullets dropped their league opener against Washington, but since that time have yet to taste defeat. Included in their long string are two wins over the Celtics. First Baltimore win was registered over the locals in Maryland by a 85-74 margin. They belted the Bostonians here 89-73 and looked like the best team in the game while so doing.

Coach Russell has his squad down to 10 men. Charlie Hoefler has been released and George Munroe placed on suspension. With Munroe sidelined, Cecil Hankins will step into a choice position to prove he is able to handle his assignment.

Boston may be without the services of their crack rookie, Eddie Ehlers. The former Purdue ace has been bedridden with a severe cold and Russell will not know until game time just what the young man's physical condition may be.

Baltimore brings an experienced professional club to Boston headed by player-coach, Buddy Jeannette. Jeannette took over the Bullets last season and swept them to the American League title with but 3 defeats in 36 games. His biggest assets are Mike Bloom, Kleggie Hermen, Chick Reiser, Herm Feusch and Carl Meinhold; all of whom have enjoyed extensive professional experience. Their crack rookie, Paul Hoffman, was an All-American selection at Purdue.

MISSOURI TO PASS UP BOWL BIDS

Pics Save Regulars, To Send Reserves To Baltimore

The weary Boston Olympics, who walloped Valleyfield Braves 12-2 and gained a 5-3 tie with Atlantic City Sea Gulls last weekend at Boston Garden, worked out on Arena ice today in preparation for their battle with Shawinigan Falls Cataracts Thursday night at the Garden.

Before meeting the Frenchmen, the Pics meet the Clippers at Baltimore tomorrow night, but Harrington will use his second team tomorrow night, and his first squad will be fit and ready for the tussle with the Cats.

Coached by "Red" MacKenzie, the Shawinigan Falls sextet is one of the strongest outfits in the Quebec Senior League, and boasts one of the finest starting lineups in amateur hockey.

Jack Carthy, who has been awarded the "Most Valuable Player" trophy for the last three seasons with the Cats, will center the first line with Ralph Buchanan at right wing and Al Webster at left wing. Buchanan, who played with San Francisco Seals the last two seasons, is one of the fastest skaters in the loop, and packs a hard right-hand shot. Webster, formerly with Hull of the Q. S. H. L., is not only dangerous around the net, but one of the best back-checkers in the circuit.

B's Hopeful Crawford Can Face Black Hawks

The Boston Bruins, struck hard by injuries, are hopeful of having Jack Crawford back in the lineup tomorrow night when they play the Chicago Black Hawks at Boston Garden, in what will be a most crucial game for both sides.

The Bruins' doctors have declared Milton Schmidt out for an indefinite period because of torn lateral ligaments in his left knee and Murray Henderson will be out for 10 days because of a shoulder contusion.

Present indications are that Crawford will be able to play tomorrow night, but if he is still lame from his foot injury, Kenney Smith may move back on defense. Crawford was to skate today, and report to Dr. Tom Kelley after his workout.

Coach Dit Clapper does not intend to decide until game time just what he will do to replace his injured players. Chances are that Bill Taylor will center for Joe Carveth and Pete Babando, and that Don Gallinger will play between wings Woody Dumart and Eddie Sandford. If Smith plays back on defense, Paul Ronty will center for Ed Harrison and Wally Wilson.

Chicago comes to Boston for the first time since the famous five for two deal with Toronto by which the Hawks acquired center Bud Poile, wingers Gene Stewart and Gus Bodnar and defense players Ernie Dickens and Bob Goldham all of whom have greatly strengthened their new team. The Hawks have played three games this season with the Bruins who won in the only other Boston game 3-2 and won and lost in Chicago by respective scores of 2-1 and 3-5.

This is the second of four successive home games the Bruins are playing. After tomorrow night's game they will meet the New York Rangers at the Garden on Saturday and Les Canadiens on Sunday.

Shinn Boxes Harris On Dempsey Card

Ritchie Shinn, Chinese boxer from San Francisco, works out at Kelly & Hayes Gym each afternoon, training for his 10-round scrap with Bulldog Jackie Harris, of Malden, Thursday night, at Dempsey A. A. show in Mechanics Building.

Shinn's record shows that he has never been stopped, while Jackie's reputation as a rugged individual is well known in this section.

Jackie reports that he is in grand shape and has been doing plenty of roadwork on his farm in Byfield.

Pick Houston For Ivy Loop's All-Star Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Columbia, first to defeat Army, and unbeaten Pennsylvania each placed three men on the All-Star Ivy League football team selected for the Associated Press by the loop's coaches.

The Quakers, tied only by Army in a rugged eight-game campaign and winner of the Ivy flag, are represented on the first team by Charles Bednarik, center; George Savitsky, tackle; and Tony Minisi, a southpaw halfback.

Gene Rossides and William Swiacki, co-partners in Columbia's famed and feared passing attack, are stationed on the star-spangled team in the backfield and at end, respectively. The third Lion is Joseph Karas at guard.

John Prehlik of Yale was placed at the other guard spot by the mentors of the 2-year-old circuit while Howard Houston, Harvard's sophomore tackle, holds down the top opposite Savitsky. Dale Armstrong of Dartmouth is Swiacki's running mate on the flank.

Yanks' End to Wed Scituate Girl

Nick Scollard, star end and placement kicker, of the Boston Yanks' football team, found romance in Boston.

On Dec. 21, he will be married to Patricia McLean, 21, of Scituate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. McLean of First Parish rd.

"Big Nick," as he is widely known in the mid-west where he starred at St. Joseph's College, Indiana, came to the Boston Yanks following his college career. He played on the All-Star squads in the big Chicago game and the North-South game.

Miss McLean formerly worked on the Boston Globe as a sports reporter following her graduation from Scituate High School and Boston University. Her father is a veteran police reporter for the Boston American.

The wedding will take place in St. Cecilia's Church, Boston.

Louis Still Good. 'Boxoffice' Regardless of His Opponent

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Joe Louis probably would draw a good house against a midjet and since the champion is meeting a legitimate heavyweight in Jersey Joe Walcott the boxoffice cash registers are ringing out a merry tune for the promoters of Friday night's title fight in Madison Square Garden.

So strong is Louis' personal drawing power that even against a short-ender like Walcott more than $100,000 already has been converted into tickets by the public for the scheduled 15-round.

Sol Strauss, acting director of the promoting 20th Century Sporting Club, predicts the Garden indoor record of $201,613, drawn by Jim Maloney and Jack Delaney on Feb. 18, 1927, will be broken.

Strauss, filling in for the ailing Mike Jacobs, believes the bout will gross around $270,000. Louis won't have to worry about the tax-collecting man after this one as he is down for 45 per cent of the net as well as for the same percentage of the movie, radio and television proceeds.

Walcott, an 8 to 1 underdog in man-to-man wagering, will collect 15 per cent. All around Louis stands to make well over $100,000 while the veteran Jersey boxer figures to make somewhere between $40,000 and $50,000 which will keep plenty of meat on the table for his brood of six in Camden, N. J.

The 20th century is charging from $3 to $30 for the fray and all seats are on a reserved basis. The highest priced seats are going fast although plenty of pews in the middle price range still are available. Oddly enough, whether the top tariff is $10 or $100, the ringside chairs usually are the first to go for a big fight.

WEDDING BELLS—Nick Scollard, Boston Yanks' star end, will wed a Scituate girl, Patricia McLean, Dec. 21, in St. Cecilia's Church, Boston. Miss McLean is a daughter of Frank McLean, a veteran police reporter for the Boston American.

Upsets Spice Garden Card

By RINGSIDE

Upset ran rampant through the Callahan A. C. boxing card at the Garden last night when Joey Angelo, 137½, of Providence, beat Dennis Patrick Brady, 131½, of Hartford, a 2-1 favorite, and the original old man river of boxing, Spider Armstrong, 132½, of Toronto, stopped Hubert Gagnier, 129½, of Montreal in the eighth round of a scheduled 10.

Disappointment, too, ran through the gathering of 5826 that contributed a gross rate of $14,550 and a net of $10,745 as Tommy Collins of the South End beat Earl Roys of Bristol, Ct., but did not get the latter's New England 118-pound championship because he was overweight, 123½ pounds to Roys' 118. Gus "Pell" Mell forced a cancellation of his bout with Freddy Archer because of a lame back, making a necessary and interesting substitution of a fourth 10-round.

There was enough excitement for one evening with Angelo doing a masterful job—something that hasn't been seen here in a long time—outboxing the youthful Brady for eight of the 10 rounds. Armstrong and Collins provided plenty of fireworks in their battle.

Armstrong floored the young, inexperienced Montreal resident, Gagnier, three times for no count in the first round with a combination right hand to the body and left hook to the head, then dropped him again in the second round for a count of four and finally ended it in the eighth with two more knockdowns, before Referee Tommy Rawson stopped the fight.

Collins had all the better of the going in his bout with Roys, who proved a surprising and pleasing opponent. Roys was fortunate that the distance was cut down from the title 12 rounds to the regulation 10 as he wilted badly in the late rounds.

Making the evening complete, the fans got a chance to stand up and howl in protest when Judge Joe Hierty voted for Brady though it was hard to understand how he ever reached such a conclusion.

The substitute match saw Bill Kearns, 145, of Hartford, beat Richard Polie, 139½, of New Orleans.

Brothers Enter Pures At Mechanics Saturday
The Berquist brothers of Milford, Warren and Bob, will be stepping into the welterweight competition next Saturday night at Mechanics Building as the South End A. C. conducts another in its series of amateur boxing programs. Battling in this show will be in all classes from the 112½ to heavyweights.

Ski Lift Will Boom Warner

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

WARNER, N. H., Dec. 2—Chief topic in skiing circles at this schuss center concerns the proposed lift on nearby Mt. Sunapee, a project that would place this section among the major ski developments of New England. As a matter of fact, the money has been appropriated by the State for the work, but a survey is still in progress to determine the type of lift needed. Reliable sources reveal that another aerial tramway may be built on the steep mountain, thus providing revenue year round.

This little hamlet, as all skiers recall, was the first destination of the initial Boston and Maine Snow Train, which puffed into the town way back in 1931. And a decided effort by all inhabitants is underway to attract thousands of enthusiasts to Warner this winter.

At the slopes, a new rope tow has been installed, 1200 feet in length. At the bottom of the big hill, a cozy warm-up hut has been constructed, where skiers may prepare for the next run.

Novices can cavort in safety here, too, for a nice nursery slope is ready for the snowplow contingent. As usual, a complete ski school will operate at the slope, the director to be announced shortly.

QUICK CHRISTIES: One of the most enthusiastic boosters of this region is Jim Newton, editor of the Kearsarge Independent, who says that "skiing is growing from year to year" . . . A set on New Year's Eve is all set, while the Warner Hotel Ass'n has planned a series of week-end winter carnivals, with events of all kinds on the programs.

Skiing Made Simple--No. 2

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

LESSON No. 2: "HERRINGBONE-BONING"—In the above photograph, Paula Kanno, of North Conway, N. H., a member of the U. S. Olympic Ski Team, is demonstrating how a skier may climb a slope by the method known as "herring-boning." It is not too easy for the beginner, but mastery of this maneuver will prove well worthwhile—particularly if the tow or lift breaks down suddenly!

To herring-bone on your initial attempt, try a slope that has a gentle grade; save the steeper ones for later. As the picture shows, the skis are spread in the form of a V, with the tips stretched far apart, the ends almost touching.

Assume this position, with the body completely relaxed, knees bent, and the weight forward. The poles, of course, are in back of you, to supply that needed "push." To ascend the hill, "walk" on your skis in a series of overlapping V's, edging the boards as the grade increases. Herring-boning is tiring, but is necessary that all skiers learn this fundamental of the sport.

Another way in which to climb a slope on skis is by side-stepping. To use this method, start with the body turned sideways to the hill, the skis parallel and edged, knees bent. Then, as the term indicates, side-step up and up, one pole on each side for support. It's good exercise, too!

(In tomorrow's Boston American, "Tap" will cover the correct downhill running position.)

Knights Oppose Durocher's Return

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (INS)—Branch Rockey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who has announced he will reveal within the next eight days who is going to manage the team next year, was confronted with a fresh dilemma today.

Speculation has been rife for some time as to whether Burt Shotton, who piloted the club to the National League pennant this season, would be retained, or whether he would be replaced by Leo Durocher, the former manager who was suspended for the entire 1947 season.

Durocher was suspended on vaguely-worded charges of "conduct detrimental to baseball."

Today Rickey was faced by the action of the Columbus council, largest Knights of Columbus group in Brooklyn, in adopting a resolution opposing Durocher's return. The council has informed Rickey of this move.

John B. Fitzpatrick, grand knight of the council, said: "We agreed on that a week ago. I believe that Brooklyn Fourth Degree members took similar action."

Fourth Degree members, highest non-officer rank in the Knights of Columbus order, were understood to total approximately 1800.

Meanwhile, the Catholic Youth Organization in the Brooklyn diocese was remaining non-committal but also may oppose Durocher's reappointment.
